Higher bus fare July 1

The Bi-State Development Agency board of commissioners approved on Friday a proposed July 1 fare increase on Bi-State buses.

Board chairman Gerald Rimmel emphasized, "This is not a final action. The approval of the proposed fare structure today allows us to move to the next step, which is seeking input from the public." The board will not make a final decision on bus fares until after public hearings, which are tentatively set for the first week in May.

The fare increase is described as necessitated by the escalating inflation rate, and energy costs which have caused a projected deficit of $11 million next year.

Executive Director Charles G. Houghton said, "We have done everything possible to cut costs within the agency itself. After a careful analysis, we are imposing a $1.2 million internal cutback."

"We cut virtually everywhere we could without damaging the efficiency of our service to the public."

The proposed fare structure which will be under consideration includes a 50-cent base fare for adults, a 25-cent base fare for children, and no zone charges.

A special commuter fare of 75 cents is to be charged on express rapid lines; a weekly commuter pass will be available for $7.50; and a monthly commuter pass will be marketed at $32.

Transfers will be 10 cents for regular and student fares.

The elderly and handicapped will pay 50 cents during peak hours (6 a.m. and 4 p.m.). But during off-peak hours, they will be able to ride for 25 cents and will not be charged for transfers at any time.

A weekly pass, good for local service only, will be $7. Students in both Missouri and Illinois will pay $2.50 for

Census day on Tuesday

By RON RANDOLPH
Census District Manager

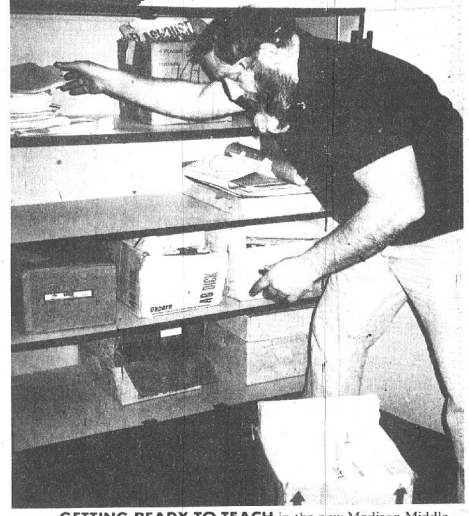

Tomorrow is Census Day for the United States of America. From the easternmost tip of Maine to Hawaii's most westerly island— from Alaska to Key West, Florida — it is the day for all Americans to be counted.

April 1, 1980, is the day every household should fill out the census questionnaire. In this area, everyone should mail it back in the brown, postage-paid envelope provided.

Everybody must be counted. You are your own census taker. Fill out your

Further tax cut likely on food, medicine in area

Tax relief isn't making much progress in Washington, but it seems almost inevitable at Springfield.

Bills introduced in the Illinois House on Thursday would eliminate entirely the sales tax on all drugs and some types of food.

There would be no tax on "most basic foods," including meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dairy products, margarine, fruit juice and fresh produce. The sponsors say these account for more than half of all food purchases.

Some House Democrats are offering the bill as an alternative to Governor James Thompson's proposal to reduce the sales tax by an additional cent, to three cents per dollar, on all food and medicine beginning Jan. 1, 1981.

The one-cent reduction won unanimous House Revenue Committee approval Thursday.

Instead of the $140 million tax cut favored by the governor, the legislators' plan would total $200 million and would go into effect sooner, on Sept. 1, 1980, they point out.

They contend that ending the sales tax entirely on certain types of food would ease current confusion at grocery check-out counters over the two-tier sales tax system. At present there is a four-cent tax on food and medicine and a five-cent tax on non-food items bought at supermarkets.

Another tax relief plan introduced Thursday would expand the "circuit breaker" tax reduction program and include a utility users' refund. The maximum annual household income affected would rise from $5,000 to $12,000 and the maximum grant would climb to $700.

Benefits would be triggered when property taxes rise 3.5 percent of household income, instead of 4 percent.

The bill would provide grants of $40 or more, up to 75 percent of the increased annual fuel costs of persons who qualify for circuit breaker relief. Public aid recipients receiving less than $40 a month cash assistance would qualify for the program at the first time, under this legislation.

A bill to phase out the sales tax on farm machinery was recommended in a 16-2 vote by the House Revenue Committee on Thursday.

Meanwhile, the House Rules Committee killed legislation which would have imposed an annual eight percent ceiling on revenue from the corporate personal property tax replacement, and would have eliminated a distribution ratio between Downstate and Cook County.

The House by 98-37 last week approved a measure stipulating that county assessment supervisors could be fired by county boards. Currently, they are appointed for six-year terms

Recruiting by state

The Illinois National Guard is launching a campaign for new members, entitled "The Governor's 1980 Recruiting Drive." The drive begins April 1 and continues through June.

Governor James R. Thompson, commander-in-chief of the Guard, has expressed concern about the National Guard being below authorized personnel strength. The Illinois Army National Guard has about 3,400 vacancies and the Air Guard needs about 300 new members.

And the Illinois State Police recruitment program for 1980 will end April 20. Only applications postmarked by midnight April 20 will be accepted.

Those considering a career in law enforcement may contact the nearest Illinois State Police Headquarters or the Illinois State Department of Law Enforcement Merit Board, 3087 Drakeson Parkway, Springfield, Ill. 62763 (phone 217-782-6260).

State Police applicants must be between 21 and 36 years of age with a high school diploma or its equivalent.

Other requirements include: 20/20 vision (correctable) with no color blindness and 100 percent depth perception; good health and physical fitness; U.S. citizenship; no felony violations; possession of a valid driver's license, and willingness to accept assignment anywhere in the state.

The selection process involves applicant orientation, physical ability test, written examination, oral interview, background investigation and medical examination.

Those successfully completing the process will be considered for an 18-week training period at the Department of Law Enforcement Training Academy in Springfield.

The first class of 40 cadets is scheduled for November 1980, with three classes slated in 1981.

During training, State Police cadets earn $1,225 per month. Upon graduation, the monthly salary is increased to $1,267.

To maintain compliance with the department's affirmative action guidelines, 50 percent of those hired will be white males, 43 percent will be minority males, and 7 percent will be women, both white and minority.

"The Illinois Department of Law Enforcement is looking for quality applicants to join one of the best law enforcement organizations in the United States," Trooper Calvin Dye,

No real Easter bunny gifts

Baby chicks, rabbits and ducklings are symbolic gifts often given during Easter season. But the Illinois Department of Agriculture is urging consumers not to purchase baby animals for gifts this year.

It's not only a bad idea to give children the fragile chicks and ducklings—it's against the law.

The Illinois Humane Care of Animals Act specifies that it is unlawful to "sell, offer for sale, barter, or give baby ducklings or chicks as pets or novelties."

The law also specifies that ducklings, chicks or rabbits that have been dyed, colored—or treated to impart an artificial color—may not be sold or given away in Illinois.

Dr. David Bromwell, chief of the state agriculture department's Bureau of Animal Welfare, says there is good reason for the law, since more than half of the babies given normally die within the first two weeks.

Bromwell suggests that parents consider alternate gifts for children this Easter, such as plenty of colored eggs.

$700 scholarships being offered

The Granite City Scholarship Foundation, Inc., has announced that applications for scholarship grants of $700 each are now available at Granite City South and Granite City North to graduating seniors at the two high schools.

To be eligible for consideration, applicants must send a completed application—postmarked no later than April 30, 1980—to Robert Maxwell, Granite City Steel, 20th and State streets, Granite City, Ill. 62040. Maxwell is treasurer of the Foundation.

A screening committee will evaluate the applications. Recipients of scholarship grants will be chosen on the basis of financial need, scholastic ability, and purpose of pursuing an education at an accredited college.

The Scholarship Foundation is made up of industry, business, civic and fraternal organizations in the Granite City area, and has been awarding scholarships for many years. Last year, 17 $700 scholarships were presented to seniors at the two Granite City high schools.

Other free tests will be available at some sites, depending on availability of equipment and qualified personnel.

This would include tests for tuberculosis, glaucoma, hearing, breast self-examination instructions, rectal colon cancer, diabetes, oral cancer, preventive dentistry and podiatry.

A blood chemistry test will also be

Free enterprise emphasis

The business fraternity at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Phi Beta Lambda, will sponsor SIFE Week, April 7-11, as part of the organization's Students in Free Enterprise project.

The week will serve as a culmination of the work students have done for several months in conjunction with a business education class. According to Wilbur Campbell, the fraternity's sponsor and an assistant professor in business education, the student-initiated project has entailed more work than would be expected in one class.

A banquet will be held April 11, featuring SIUE faculty speakers Russell Solomon, engineering department member and former vice president of Granite City Steel, and John Flanders, economics faculty member. A representative from Illinois Bell is also expected to speak.

Also, awards for essay contests and business competition will be presented to the winners during the banquet.

"The students have done far more work than normally would be done in a four-hour class," Prof. Campbell commented during the weekend.

Students in the class were divided into the three groups—education, public interest and social responsibility—to cover different aspects of free enterprise in the local area.

According to Linda Emshousen, the education group organizer, students designed slide and lecture programs on free enterprise which they will present to students at area elementary and secondary schools.

Essay competitions for high school and college students were organized by the group. A $100 award will be presented to the high school student with the best paper on "What Free Enterprise Means to Me." The winning college essayist will also receive $100 for the topic: "Profits—How Much Is Too Much?"

Linda Anderson said the public interest group conducted surveys to determine area public opinion on free enterprise. In addition to telephone surveys, the group used video equipment to tape on-the-spot interviews with shoppers.

The third group, social responsibility, also interviewed area residents, according to Linda Whitten. This group focused on senior citizens' attitudes on how the economy is working now and also when they were part of the work force.

This group will also present an award to the Madison-St. Clair counties' business that has shown the highest

Patterson in Mediterranean

Navy Machinist's Mate Fireman David W. Patterson, son of Samuel E. Patterson, 2416 Angell Drive, participated in "National Week XXVIII" in the Mediterranean.

He is a crewmember aboard the frigate U.S.S. Paul, homeported in Mayport, Fla., and operating as a unit of the U.S. 6th Fleet.

The Naval exercise involved more than 15 ships and 100 aircraft from the 6th Fleet, along with units from the Italian and United Kingdom navies. It was designed to test naval warfare techniques in a multi-threat environment.

Anti-air, submarine, surface ship and task force warfare techniques were practiced during the exercise.

The Paul is a 438-foot-long "Knox" class frigate with a crew of 283. Equipped with guns, missiles and rockets, his ship can operate independently or as part of a naval task force.

It is also outfitted with a landing platform and normally carries a light helicopter for long range detection and attack of submarines.

A 1978 graduate of Madison High School, Patterson joined the Navy in August 1978.

Gardeners, man your tools

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Adviser

Most gardening is still at a standstill in Southwestern Illinois, awaiting some nice Illinois spring weather.

The grapes to a tight wire. Grapes are generally pruned to the long cane system and then tied to a wire trellis or fence. The more rigid the fence or tighter the wire, the better the cane and its fruit will be supported during the growing season. This will then provide the support, aeration, and training aid for which it was intended. Use soft string or tomato twine for easy tying and easy removal at next year's pruning.

Watch for the proper time to uncover strawberries. Strawberries are usually left covered with mulch as long as possible to delay bloom and prevent frost damage. When following this practice, check the condition of the plants under the mulch every three or four days. When the new leaves show white or yellow coloration, it's time to uncover them. But do it on a warm day so that a frosty night won't hurt the tender plants.

Spray to stay ahead of pests. Prevention is worth more than an ounce of cure in pest control. All of the major fruit pests, including diseases, can be controlled by the home-owners pest control schedule. Failure to get ahead of pests can mean severe loss of apple and peach crops.

Don't apply insecticide sprays during bloom. Most of the fruit crops will bloom during the month, and pesticide sprays should be applied before or after root system can be planted without disturbing the soil ball. Plant when the first true leaves are forming and when the soil is warm.

Plan for successive harvest of vegetables when planting. This can be done by repeated planting of a variety at weekly intervals, or by one planting of several varieties with different maturity times. Thus, the favorite variety of radish can be planted several times, and several varieties of sweet corn can be planted on the same day.

Fertilize where needed. Fertilizers should have been applied in March, but can still be applied in early April. Check the gardening books or circulars for materials and rates.

Plant rhubarb and asparagus. These crops should be planted as soon as possible. Select a well-drained site. Incorporate compost or rotted manure in the soil before planting. Set rhubarb with crowns 2 inches below the soil surface; asparagus crowns should be set 8 inches below the surface, and covered 2 inches deep. The hole or trench will then be filled gradually during the spring.

Grafting and bridge-grafting can be done. Bridge-grafting of rabbit injured trees should be done as soon as the bark begins to slip. Grafting for variety change or increasing numbers can be done in mid-to-late April. It is critical that the cion wood be dormant when grafted.

Hike GC insurance

The rate for health insurance on Granite City municipal employees will be increased effective May 1 because of a sharp increase in the cost of medical care, city officials were informed last week.

In a notice to City Council, the insurance company said that while the consumer price index now shows 12 to 15 percent price increases, medical care costs actually have risen 50 percent, inflating the insurance rate 19 to 20 percent.

City Clerk Robert Stevens said the increase projected by the insurance company would boost the present health policy cost from its present $143 per year to about $171 per year for each city employee. The cost would rise proportionately for dependents, it was noted.

The aldermen referred the notice to the council's Finance Committee which is now in the process of preparing the city's 1980-81 fiscal year budget.

8 seeking 3 positions on Area College board

Four candidates have filed for two three-year terms and four for one-year term on the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees. Three Board members will be chosen in balloting on Saturday, April 12.

Voters may cast their ballots in their regular polling place for school elections.

Candidates for the three-year terms are: Avery Schermer of Granite City, Curt Eckert of Belleville, Everett E. Sakosko of Belleville, and Norman W. Sheble of Belleville.

Running for the one-year term are: Michael Hildebrand of Granite City, Elizabeth Jenner of Mascoutah, Ronald Krause of Belleville, and Ronald Hageman of Belleville.

Schermer, who was selected by the BAC Board to finish out the year when Robert Harris resigned, is a lifelong resident of the Quad-City area. He serves as president of Schermer Super Markets, Incorporated.

A graduate of St. Louis University, he has served several terms on the board of trustees at McKendree College and was a faculty member at the School of Commerce and Finance at St. Louis U. for several years.

Later, he served as an economist and business analyst in the Office of Price Stabilization.

In addition to his involvement with the super-markets, Schermer has been in several other business ventures, including the Arlington Golf Club, real estate, motel, warehousing and men's clothing. He has held several positions in the Lions Club, the Urban League, the Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Retailers. He was appointed to the Tri-City Regional Port District Board by Governor Daniel Walker.

Schermer is married. He and his wife have two sons and two grandchildren.

Curt Eckert, who is affiliated with Eckert Orchards and Eckert and Sturgeon Realty, is seeking his third term on the BAC Board. He served as chairman of the board for two years prior to the last year, when he expressed the desire that another member be selected for that position.

Eckert is integrally involved in Belleville civic life and has served as president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Optimist Club, the Turkey Hill Garage, the Illinois Fruit Council, the National Peach Council, and the National Apple Institute. He is on the board of directors of the First National Bank of Belleville.

Eckert, a graduate of the University of Illinois, is married. Each of his three children holds either a Master's or Ph.D. degree.

Everett E. Sakosko is owner of Ed's Television and Radio Service. He is a native of Belleville, and graduated from BAC. McKendree College and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He plans to continue his education for a Ph.D. He is a member of the Loyal Order of the Moose.

Norman W. Sheble, a 1975 graduate of Cahokia High School, received his Associate of Applied Science Degree in Marketing Management at Belleville Area College last year. He is presently employed at BAC as a computer operator and tutor. He is working toward a position as a programmer-analyst consultant for management information systems. Prior to his present position, Sheble worked as a computer operator for UMC Industries Computer Services.

Michael Hildebrand, who is an advertising promotion manager, attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where he majored in English. He is a member of the Granite City Jaycees, Knights of Columbus, G. Democratic Club and Illinois Press Association.

He formerly was employed by National Foods Stores, where he was a shop steward for Retail Clerks Local 435.

Elizabeth Jenner, an incumbent on the BAC board, has chosen to file for the one-year term in her bid for reelection. She is a license specialist for the State of Illinois, Department of Registration and Education. A graduate of the University of Illinois with a degree in music, she is a member of the Republican screening committee and its executive committee. Mrs. Jenner recently won a Republican primary race for the St. Clair County Board.

She was appointed to the board of directors for the Alumni Association at the University of Illinois and is on the Campaign-Urbana council for that association. Mrs. Jenner has been on the Belle Valley School District Board, has served as president of the St. Clair County Republican Women, is a member of the Farm Bureau and is organizer for the Signal Hill United Methodist Church in Belleville. She is married and has three children.

Ronald Krause is owner of Ronald C. Krause Insurance Agency and is associated with Eckert and Reifschneider Realty One. He holds a BS degree from SIU at Carbondale in Marketing Management.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Belleville Optimist Club and is that club's Fellowship Director; he is a Deacon at Westview Baptist Church; and he is a member of the Illinois and National Association of Professional Insurance Agents. He is also a member of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, the Belleville Family YMCA, the Douglas Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association; and the PTA Advisory Council.

Krause, who served on two years of active duty in the Army, is married and is the father of two children.

Ronald L. Hageman is a student in Data Processing Technology at Belleville Area College. A back injury necessitated his preparing for a new career after 18 years in the trucking industry. He is studying to become a computer programmer.

An O'Fallon Township High School graduate, he presently lives at 540 South Pennsylvania Avenue in Belleville. He is a member of St. Paul's United Church of Christ and holds membership in Phi Beta Lambda. He is married and has three children. The candidate who wins the single one-year position will serve until November 1981; those elected for the three-year positions will serve until November 1983 under the new consolidated election law, which requires all elections to be conducted at a common time.

Polls will open at 12 noon and close at 7 p.m.

Big drop in Smith profits

A. O. Smith Corporation expects to suffer a substantial decline in earnings in the first quarter of 1980 compared with the same period last year. L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, said last week.

The principal cause of the decline is the recession occurring in the American auto industry, he said.

A. O. Smith is a major supplier of structural components to U.S. car and truck manufacturers.

Smith estimated sales in the first quarter at approximately $198,000,000, compared with sales of $227,167,000 in the first quarter of 1979. Earnings will be in the range of $1,700,000 to $2,200,000, or from 35 to 45 cents per share, compared with profits in the first quarter last year of $8,279,000, or $1.68 per share.

Sales in the company's Automotive Division are expected to fall 30 percent below the level of the first quarter of 1979.

While the company has made substantial reductions in expenses, profits in the division are expected to be more severely affected than sales.

Smith said the Automotive Division's volume decline is a result of lower sales of family-sized cars and light trucks, the principal market for A. O. Smith structural products.

In addition, a strike at International Harvester has halted all shipments to this major truck frame customer during the first quarter.

Another factor affecting A. O. Smith results in the first quarter is the slowdown in new housing starts. Smith said sales of electric motors used in air-conditioning systems will be off from the first quarter of last year. Profits are being harmed by the lower volume, by rapidly increasing raw material costs, and the difficulty of compensating for these rapid cost increases through higher prices.

On the positive side, Smith noted that A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., is having its best first quarter sales in history, due to strong demand early in the period. Profits are also ahead of a year ago.

The Consumer Products Division, a leading manufacturer of water heaters, expects to report higher sales and profits in the first quarter compared with last year, Smith said. This is a result of an enlargement in customer base leading to increased market share.

He also noted there is good demand for the division's energy-efficient water heating equipment from both the residential and commercial markets.

Also expected to report improved results in the quarter are several affiliate companies, including the finance and insurance subsidiaries and a jointly-owned manufacturer of reinforced plastic pipe.

Chouteau residence approved

The Madison County Board has given its approval to three Quad-City area zoning requests, including a request to construct a new home in Chouteau Township.

Carroll Tingley was granted a special use permit to construct a single-family dwelling on North Thorngate Drive in front of the Chouteau Town Hall and garage on a 100 by 200 foot lot which is in an M-2, general manufacturing, district of Chouteau Township.

The board also granted a special use permit to Cly Walker and Joseph Lewis to place a mobile home on the property for the lifetime use of the Joseph and Angie Pickett family. The property is at 2112 Alton Ave., Cloverleaf Addition, in an R-1 single-family residential district of Nameoki Township.

Also granted were a variance and a special use permit to Robert Kieffer and Neil March to place a mobile home on Chouteau Island on Water Works Road north of Interstate 270. Stipulations are that the permit is good for three years and is for the sole occupancy of the Neil March family.

The variance was granted with the agreement that the mobile home must be moved from the flood hazard area as soon as a warning of flood or impending disaster is issued.

The actions were taken after public hearings were held by the county's Zoning Board of Appeals. Action on two other requests was postponed because the public hearings were rescheduled or had not been held.

Hearings to be scheduled include one on a request by Udell and Loraine Bischoff for rezoning of agriculturally zoned property on Route 162 east of the Lakeside Driving Range to an M-2 manufacturing district for an Air Products & Chemicals Co. motor freight terminal.

The other hearing, postponed due to a mix-up on the posting of the notice of public hearing, is on the request of Richard Cooper for a special use permit to place a mobile home within a flood hazard area of Chouteau Township on Water Works Road, Chouteau Island.

Scouts learn first aid

Cub Scouts from Dens 2 and 3 of Pack 13, St. Elizabeth Church, were given instruction in first-aid skills such as problems from bleeding, broken bones and burns from Mrs. Ruth McDonald, American Red Cross instructor.

They also reviewed facts on good nutrition, the four basic foods, good health habits and good safety rules.

Den 2 clubs attending were Eric Achenbach, Brian Bjorkman, Stephen Friedel, Dennis Lucido, Danny Niles, Michael Patterson, Eric Slover and Jerry Thompson along with Jim Friedel, Boy Scout Den Chief, Den Mother Candy Thompson, and assistants Pat Niles and Carol Patterson.

Den 3 cubs attending were Tom Casey, David Forys, Brian Myers, Billy Rummel, Richard Schaus, Stephen Uram, Chris Weathers, Dennis Derossett, Den Mother Josephine Uram and Barbara Forys, assistant.

The following precinct committee-men in NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP wish to thank the people for their vote and support in the primary election:

- 1 — Robert Vincent
- 5 — Helen M. Hawkins
- 7 — Frank Mehelic
- 12 — Walter Spitzmiller

Legislative committee to hold auto emission test hearings April 21

A special committee of the Illinois General Assembly will conduct a public hearing in East St. Louis in an attempt to determine whether a mandatory motor vehicle emission inspection program should be implemented in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The Joint Committee on Motor Vehicle Emission Inspection and Maintenance will meet at 1 p.m., April 21, in Room 202 of the Regional State Office Building at 10 Collinsville Ave. in East St. Louis.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is recommending that a mandatory auto emission inspection and maintenance (I-M) program be set up in the six county Chicago metropolitan area and in Madison and St. Clair Counties in the East St. Louis area.

The I-M program recommended by IEPA would require residents of these eight counties to take their automobiles to special testing stations. If the vehicle fails the emission test, the owner would have to maintain the vehicle, then have it retested.

The Secretary of State could not issue a vehicle registration license or sticker until the vehicle has passed the emission test.

The Federal Clean Air Act Amendments of 1977 require that states establish I-M programs in any areas which will not meet the federal air quality standards for carbon monoxide or ozone by 1982.

The Illinois EPA has determined that the Chicago and East St. Louis areas will not be able to meet the federal standards.

Those states which ignore the federal mandate may lose both federal highway construction grants and sewage treatment grants.

These sanctions have already been invoked against the state of Colorado and U.S. EPA is in the process of applying sanctions in Indiana.

The Joint Committee is now in the process of determining whether an I-M program should be enacted in Illinois, and, if so, who will conduct the testing, what fee will be charged for testing, how the program will be enforced, which vehicles will be tested, and how many retests will be required.

Local area hopes to benefit from landfill's need for dirt

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Concerns that a new landfill may be started in the vicinity of Horseshoe Lake near Layton Road were allayed by officials of the Landfills Division of EPA Services during a special joint meeting Thursday afternoon of the Metro-East Sanitary District Board, the Sewers and Drainage Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and four SCA officials.

Dale Dille of the Landfills Division for SCA pledged that the company's proposed purchase of the Mueller farm south of the company's current landfill operation near Layton Road is strictly for the topsoil. Soil from the Mueller property would be used for "daily cover" over trash dumped in the current landfill.

Dille said the company would be willing to sign any kind of guarantee desired by local officials to assure the farm would not become a new landfill, but said such assurances already are available through Environmental Protection Agency regulations.

"The state and federal EPAs would not allow us to put a landfill there. The farm has the wrong type of soil.

The dirt is fine for daily cover, but will not meet the requirements for final cover and we could not start a landfill there, Dille pledged.

Granite City Engineer Monroe Brewer said that if the company needs soil, Granite City will soon have about one-half million cubic yards of sandy dirt to get rid of. "Maybe we can help each other," he said.

Another SCA official, Ron Ross, told Brewer, "We will be glad to use your dirt," but Brewer responded, "I was thinking of a little more than that."

Brewer later told the Press-Record that massive quantities of dirt will have to be removed for holding ponds and drainage ditches in connection with the city's drainage plan for the Bradfield and North Granite City areas. However, Brewer said, the city is in the process of attempting to obtain a reasonable price from SCA's trash collection division, Milam East Division, for garbage pickups in the city.

and added, "I just thought something might be worked out."

Milam East has submitted a bid of $826,225 to collect garbage in the fiscal year beginning May 1 and the price would rise to $1,038,305 by the third year of the contract. In the current fiscal year, the city is paying Milam East $438,975 for trash collection, so the new total for next year is nearly twice what the city is paying this year.

Milam East was the second highest among four bidders on garbage collection in the city when bids were opened last Tuesday night for a three-year contract. The lowest, R.D. Johnson of Godfrey, asks $768,000 in the first year of the contract, well above the $438,975 the city currently is paying.

The city has taken the bids under advisement and is considering several ways to reduce the overall cost. An agreement with SCA may be one of the ways considered.

SCA officials pledged during Thursday's meeting that they will be willing to work with local agencies in obtaining dirt for the landfill. One of the proposals suggested by members of the Sewers and Drainage Committee was having SCA dredge the Cahokia Canal near the landfill for dirt.

Dille said he felt it would be possible for SCA to remove dirt from the canal economically using a "drag line" method.

Another was using the Mueller farm property for a settling basin to keep sediment from flowing into Horseshoe Lake, after SCA has removed the dirt it needs from the farm.

Dille said he will have his company's engineering department study the costs of both proposals and he and SCA engineers will meet with officials and engineers from the sanitary district to determine a plan suitable to meet both the needs of the landfill and those of local drainage.

Ron Ross of SCA pledged, "We need dirt and will do it in a way most beneficial to you people for drainage or whatever you need."

Dille explained the company is in the process of purchasing the Mueller farm for its dirt, but will not complete the purchase until it obtains a 90-yard right-of-way from the sanitary district to construct a bridge connecting the landfill to the farm property.

He pledged the bridge will be a "clear span bridge" which will not have pylons or supports in the canal to catch debris and block up the canal.

Wilbur Engelke, chairman of the Sewers and Drainage Committee, summarized the meeting, saying, "A lot of misinformation has been cleared up today. Many people thought you planned to expand your landfill onto that property."

"Since we see no way the project can hamper drainage or water quality for the Quad-City area, we will take no position on the plan, but will ask to be kept informed on the progress of the planning," Engelke concluded.

Dille then told Walter "Shag" Greathouse, the only sanitary district commissioner at the meeting, that SCA would arrange a meeting in the near future with the sanitary district board to discuss plans in which dirt needed by the SCA landfill can be chipped from areas which will benefit local drainage and the quality of Horseshoe Lake.

Address inside parcel is delivery insurance

The experienced parcel mailer knows that including full to and from addresses inside as well as outside the package is good insurance for delivery.

Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins said today, "An address label sometimes drops off or becomes illegible, and when there is no return address or similar identification inside, there is little chance of delivery. However, postal employees try to identify the addressee or mailer, sometimes from tiny clues," he said.

Such an effort resulted in the recent delivery of a package mailed from an Illinois community. Postmaster Wilkins said the address label had come off, and, since there was no external return address, the parcel went to a dead letter office.

There, the package was opened and a gift card was found reading only, "To Linda, from Mother and Daddy Grimes." The dead letter office returned the package to the town where it was mailed. A post office clerk began telephoning people named Grimes in the local phone directory. He soon made contact with the senders, and the gift was again on its way to its Texas destination.

"A happy ending," Postmaster Wilkins said, "but had the full addresses been included inside the package in the first place, a lot of time and anxiety could have been saved."

Nuclear energy—a Faustian bargain?

By ALVIN M. WEINBERG

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eleventh in a series of 15 articles exploring "Energy and the Way We Live." In this article, Alvin M. Weinberg, director of Oak Ridge Associated Universities' Institute for Energy Analysis, specifies the precautions we must take to minimize the potential dangers of nuclear energy. This series, written for COURSE BY NEWSPAPER, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, was funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, with supplemental funding from the National Science Foundation.

Copyright © 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.

It is now almost 40 years since the first nuclear chain reactor was created by Enrico Fermi in Chicago. If we judge from the statistics — as nuclear reactors supplying 12.5 percent of our electricity in 1978, 200 commercial power reactors in the rest of the world, and more than 200 reactors powering British, French, Soviet, and American naval vessels — nuclear power is now a great success.

But nuclear power is embroiled in a bitter debate that pits those who believe nuclear power is too dangerous against those who insist it can be safely controlled.

I have referred to nuclear power as a "Faustian bargain." Like the legendary Faust, who bargained for magical powers, we must pay a price for our power. Nuclear power, produced by the so-called breeder reactor that creates more fuel than it uses, confers on mankind an inexhaustible energy source.

In return, however, mankind must exert continuing vigilance and attention to detail in handling the nuclear system so as to avoid harm.

Each 1,000 megawatt nuclear power plant can replace an oil-fired plant that burns 8 million barrels of oil per year or a coal-fired plant that burns 2.5 million tons of coal per year.

We're to replace the 300 nuclear plants originally planned for operation by 2000 A.D. with coal-powered plants, we might have to dig an additional 750 million tons of coal annually; if with oil, we would have to import an additional 2,500 million barrels of oil each year.

With the world in an energy crisis, there is the strongest incentive to use and to expand nuclear energy.

SECURE SITES.

But there are potential problems that center on the dangers of intense radioactivity generated in a nuclear power plant, and on the possibility that plutonium produced in a reactor can be used to make nuclear bombs — the proliferation issue.

The possibility of terrorist attack on a nuclear plant or of clandestine diversion of nuclear material must be guarded against. This means that nuclear facilities will always require heavy security.

Such security can best be provided by clustering our nuclear plants in perhaps 100 heavily guarded, expertly manned centers throughout the nation rather than dispersing them as we have for fossil fuel power stations.

Most of the existing nuclear sites could grow into such centers. They would be large, permanent, and largely self-contained.

The security demanded at such sites is a small price to pay for an enormous, new energy source.

Moreover, if the sites are permanently dedicated to nuclear activities, both the low-level radioactive wastes and the reactors themselves, after 40 years of operation, the predicted period for which they would be serviceable — could be kept where they are until most of their radioactivity has decayed.

The hazards associated with our current practice of transporting radioactive materials away from the site would thus be greatly reduced.

RADIOACTIVE WASTES.

The other concern regards radioactivity in a reactor. A typical, one million kilowatt plant contains about 15 billion curies of radioactivity — about equal to the radioactivity due to the uranium naturally dissolved in all the oceans of the world.

After a reactor is shut down, this radioactivity continues to generate heat that dies away gradually over several weeks; the reactor must therefore still be cooled. Eventually, the remaining radioactivity must be isolated permanently.

Only about 50 cubic feet of high-level radioactive wastes are created each year by a large reactor if the wastes are chemically reprocessed — somewhat more if the spent uranium-bearing fuel is isolated unprocessed.

Because the volume is small, most experts who have studied the matter believe that foolproof schemes for disposing of these wastes deep in the earth can be devised.

NUCLEAR POWER—AND OPPONENTS. (Top)

Commonwealth Edison's Zion nuclear power station north of Chicago has been in service since 1973. (Bottom) Pickets protest use of nuclear power in Cleveland in March 1979.

Yet, it is hard to convince people that even the experts can know much about containing man-made materials inside the earth for periods of 1,000 years or more. By that time, the wastes would be no more hazardous than the uranium originally dug out of the ground.

In seeking foolproof schemes, we are not asking the impossible. President Carter's task force on radioactive wastes concluded, "Successful isolation of radioactive wastes from the biosphere appears technically feasible for periods of thousands of years."

The technical arguments are reinforced by a study of ancient man-made artifacts. In the Ekin caves near San Sebastian, Spain, there are paintings of horses, many in superb condition, made by Cro-Magnons 12,000 years ago.

If the artifacts of Cro-Magnon man could survive inadvertently in the earth this long, it is not reasonable to suppose that our geological and ceramists and chemical engineers can do at least as well with radioactive wastes?

In Gabon, Africa, there is a uranium mine in which natural reactors operated 2 billion years ago.

Several tons of plutonium and billions of curies of radioactivity were formed. Yet the plutonium and, much, though not all, of the radioactivity remained immobilized.

If the earth can locally contain radioactivity so well by chance, cannot modern technicians do better?

To be sure, the isolated wastes will require surveillance, but the surveillance would be minimal: a few people checking on the closed repository periodically to make certain the site is undisturbed.

REACTOR ACCIDENTS.

Properly operating reactors pose a smaller hazard to the environment than do coal-fueled boilers. They emit no carbon dioxide and therefore create no long-range threat to the earth's climate.

On the other hand, as the Three Mile Island accident demonstrated, should a reactor lose its coolant, it could overheat and release some of its radioactivity to the environment.

In this respect, a nuclear reactor is like a large dam; a dam, when properly operating, is a benign source of energy. Should the dam fail, land is flooded and people are drowned.

Until the Three Mile Island incident, we in the nuclear community were confident that the probability of such an accident was very small.

After all, the world's pressurized water reactors had operated for 500 reactor years without an accident that harmed the public. To this, one must add more than 1,000 reactor years of operation by the nuclear navy.

Three Mile Island has shaken this belief. Although no one was hurt, if the probability of such accidents is no lower than 1 in 500 reactor years, the public will probably not accept nuclear energy.

The future, indeed the survival, of nuclear power requires us to do better.

As the Kemeny Commission that investigated Three Mile Island put it, "The legacy of TMI is the need to change."

AN ACCEPTABLE NUCLEAR FUTURE.

Can we design an acceptable nuclear future, one in which the accident probability is much lower than this?

Of course, we must, and will, correct the technical deficiencies revealed by the accident.

But equally important, and as suggested by Kemeny, we must have more expert operation and isolated sites. We should confine all reactors to relatively few permanent sites, which would be operated by an elite corps of professionals, each as highly selected and trained as pilots of sophisticated jet aircraft.

Beyond this, the public will have to place the radiation hazard in better perspective. We must realize that we are bathed in a perpetual sea of radiation to which life has adapted.

Unless the public (and the media) accepts exposure to radiation — even the emotive possibility of exposure to dangerous levels — in the same spirit that it accepts exposure to other industrial pollutants, there is little chance of our enjoying the benefits of plentiful nuclear energy over the long run.

Can we redeem the Faustian bargain, even as did Goethe's Faust, whose soul was finally saved?

It was human fallibility that got us into trouble at Three Mile Island, but it was human ingenuity that limited the damage.

An acceptable nuclear future is therefore possible: Three Mile Island may have given us the incentive to re-examine the terms of the bargain and to make the changes necessary for an acceptable nuclear future.

In a special meeting Thursday the Madison Board of Education gave permission for the district administration to take students in sixth, seventh and eighth grades to the new middle school.

Students were taken to the new school on Friday, given a tour of the building and permission for the district administration to take students in sixth, seventh and eighth grades to the new middle school.

By doing this in advance the students are somewhat familiar with the new building on Monday, April 7, will be able to move right in with a minimum of problems," Superintendent said.

In other business at the board meeting a Madison High School student was placed in a Coordinated Youth Services alternative education program.

The Black Magazine Agency of Logansport, Ind., was awarded a contract to supply all the schools with magazines with low bid of cartooning and photography.

In a special one-day mini-workshop in terrariums, students will build a sample garden-in-a-bottle from their own glass container and a little charcoal. Everything that "goes or grows inside" will be a part of the class.

Ed Carly, coordinator of the Craft Shop, which sponsors the workshops, said the classes are open to anyone, especially the adults living in area communities. "You don't have to be an SUE student to come and learn," he said, "but they are welcome, too."

Classes will meet for a two-hour session the same day each week for five or six weeks. Fees are $12 to $22 and must be paid at the Craft Shop with registration before the April 7 deadline.

Expenses for meetings OK'd

Granite City Council members last week approved a series of expense fund requests for attending meetings out of the city.

The aldermen okayed a request for $49 expenses by Victor Koenig, director of the Civil Defense program, to attend a mid-year conference of the Illinois Civil Defense Council in Springfield April 25, 26 and 27.

Also authorized was payment of $8 each for five police officers to attend a retraining session as members of the metropolitan area's major case squad. Those who will take the training are William Harris, David Rosenberg, Anthony Eck, Robert Astorian and Donald Knight. The program will be held in the auditorium of the University City High School at University City, Mo., on April 30.

Expenses totaling $50 were approved at the request of Chief of Police Ronald Veizer so that Detective Craig Nann may attend a three-day arson investigation seminar April 11, 12 and 13 at Collinsville.

Sign permit obtained

The Ingleside Tavern, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, which is owned by Granite City Fire Chief Don Parente and his partner Bob Harris, erected a new sign atop the building March 14, but failed to obtain a $25 city sign permit until two weeks later, after a Press-Record inquiry was begun.

City Building Inspector Tony Rusick was notified March 14, the day the sign was erected, but no permit had been issued, it was learned.

Rusick notified Parente by telephone that he was in apparent violation of the city ordinance requiring a sign permit before a sign is installed and Parente promised he would get one from the city clerk's office in city hall, Rusick related.

Sign permits and building permits are issued from the inspection department office at 2301 Adams St., a division of the city clerk's office. A check with that office showed no permit had been obtained as of Friday afternoon, March 28, two weeks later.

Rusick was reminded Monday, March 24, that Ingleside still had not obtained a sign permit, although the sign had been up 10 days. No additional action was taken by the building inspector, the Press-Record has learned.

Rusick said about 2:30 p.m. Friday he thought Parente might have obtained a sign permit from the city clerk's office in city hall, although, he acknowledged, that would not be the normal procedure.

A check of the office of City Clerk Robert W. Stevens by the Press-Record at 2:45 p.m. Friday afternoon showed no sign permit for the Ingleside had been issued by that office.

Rusick said at that time that he was aware of the problem and was working on it. "I have to get ahead of the sign company," he responded. "They should have a drawing brought in by the sign company. He probably wasn't aware of this," Rusick said.

Parente was contacted at 3:03 p.m. Friday at Ingleside and said Harris was in the process of obtaining it at that moment.

There was a little bit of a mixup, I guess. I didn't know if Kacerac (Distributing Company) or the sign company was responsible for paying for the permit. I was out of town last week, but I knew we had to get one, so Bob is getting one now."

The inspection department confirmed at 3:05 p.m. Friday that Harris had purchased a sign permit at the inspection department.

Tootsie Roll drive nets $5,310

This year's Tootsie Roll drive by the Knights of Columbus, Tri-Cities Council 1098, netted $5,310, including $4,661 for charitable purposes, Bob Palus, chairman of the drive, announced Friday.

Of the proceeds from the drive, $531, or 10 percent of the total, was donated to the state for operating the lead testing "leadmobile" which has visited this area annually for 10 years.

The cost of the Tootsie Rolls which were sold was $648, leaving $4,131 available for local groups aiding the mentally handicapped, it was reported.

The funds were distributed to Parents for Special Education, the Tri-Cities Association for the Mentally Retarded, OATH, Inc., and St. Mary's School for Exceptional Children.

Co-chairmen of this year's drive, under Palus, were A. L. "Pete" Metcalf, John Jakich and August Sacadat.

One gift which will long be remembered by the Knights, was according to Metcalf, was the presentation of a $30 check to the Mentally Retarded fund from Robert and Doretta Landers, 2160 Cleveland Blvd., in memory

WHEN YOU'RE OUT OF PERMITS . . . you're out of luck, or so most city residents feel. Fire Chief Don Parente and retired fire captain Bob Harris found the string of city red tape a little baffling when they purchased the Ingleside Tavern recently. On March 14, they installed the large sign on top of the building but failed to get a sign permit from the city, which usually is required before a sign is installed. Parente said he knew one was needed, but did not know whether he or the beer distributor had to pay the $25 for it. They obtained a permit Friday afternoon after the Press-Record questioned several city officials.

Magic show is entertainment at Blue and Gold banquet

Celebrating cub scouting's 50th anniversary, Nameoki School Pack 46 welcomed cubs, parents and special guests at a catered dinner at Nameoki Recreation Center. Featured entertainment was William Apperson and his magic show.

Cubmaster Randy Smith opened the banquet with a brief history of Pack 46. He called attention to the honor roll of previous cubmasters beginning with Roland Harschburger, the first cubmaster of Pack 46.

He then introduced special guests including Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Harschburger of Granite City, who were representing the first cubmaster, and Don Kopp, principal of Nameoki School, and his wife.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Sandra Smith. Following the banquet, awards were given by the cubmaster.

Pinewood derby trophies were presented to Mike Maier, first place; Stephen Ritchie, second place; and David Painter, third place.

Trophies were also awarded for the 1979 Olympics to Jeff Goode, Mike Diller and Greg Koberna, 8-year-olds; Brian Taylor, 9-year-olds; and Brian Forbes, Jeff Isenbarg and David Painter, 10-year-olds. Forbes won two medals in the District Olympics, it was noted.

Winter camp badges were given to David Painter and Jeff and Steve Isenbarg. Ronnie Smithers, Mike Diller, David Painter, David Lane, Joe Basarich, Rusty Ehrhridge, Jeff Isenbarg and Mike Maier all received Webelos badges or webelos activity badges.

Ceramic cub scouts made by Sandy Smith were presented to each of the special guests and this year's den leaders, Nancy Choi, Diana Koberna, Steve Isenbarg, Don Lane and Sandra Trobaugh.

parents and five sisters. The check was presented by the parents to Grand Knight T.A. Feeler.

"We, the committee, and all brother Knights are most grateful to all the good citizens who contributed gifts, both large and small, to such a worthy cause," Palus said.

GIFTS FROM KNIGHTS. Funds raised by Knights of Columbus Council 1098 are given to representatives of organizations aiding the mentally retarded and handicapped. A total of $5,310 was raised by the annual drive and $4,131 was distributed to local agencies. Seated, from left are Grand Knight T. A. Township annual report challenged

The method in which Nameoki Township publishes its annual financial report is being questioned by Mrs. Helen Hawkins, Democratic precinct committeewoman in Nameoki Precinct Five.

She has asked the Madison County state's attorney's office to review the township's annual reports for the past 10 years and to take appropriate action against township officials, if they are found in violation of the state statutes.

In her letter to the state's attorney's office, Mrs. Hawkins enclosed a photocopy of a page of Revised Illinois State Statutes which requires that the township annual report list "all moneys paid out, giving the name of each individual to whom paid, on what account paid and the amount."

She cited the Chouteau Township annual report as an example of how the law should be followed. A review of the two annual reports shows that Chouteau Township lists the names of each person who received checks and the amount paid to each, while the Nameoki Township report lists only categories such as "administrative, salaries," and the totals in each category.

Supervisor Harold Davis said he only used the past practice in preparing the annual report.

"If we spell out every check to anybody who bought a piece of material, the list would be endless. It is a matter of economics, it would just cost too much to prepare and publish the entire list."

"When you get in office, you try to do what worked in the past. I think publishing an annual report when it is posted in the township hall is a terrible waste of money, but it is the state law," Davis said.

"If we find out we have to do it the other way, I guess that is what we will do," he added.

Commenting on Mrs. Hawkins' criticism of the way the report was published, Davis stated, "As far as I am concerned, it is just politics on her part."

During Monday night's meeting, she asked for some of the names including a copy of the annual report. Doug (Town Clerk Douglas Victor) and Irv (Township Attorney, Irvin C. Slate Jr.) said it was available in the paper, and all the documents were available at township office for examination.

"In the past, we have given them documents from the township with our names on them and she has only used them for political purposes against us. I may just ask the state's attorney to look into this, which is a false use of information with people's names on it," Davis concluded.

In her letter to the state's attorney's office, Mrs. Hawkins says other townships follow the law and she alleges, "There is no excuse for ignorance of the law on this subject."

Violation of the law on proper publication of the annual report could result in a fine of $25 to $500, by state statutes, and any county collector or treasurer found guilty of "failing, neglecting or refusing to discharge any duty imposed upon him by this act (regulating legal publication of the annual report) shall be deemed guilty of a Class A misdemeanor," which could carry a penalty of up to one year of imprisonment and a fine, not to exceed $1,000, according to statute.

8-week skating course is completed by girl scouts

Approximately 80 Junior Girl Scouts from Granite City and Collinsville completed a course in roller skating at the Stardust Skating Center.

The 8-week course was taught by Mrs. Michelle Voruz. She tested the girls on the designed requirements of the girl scout program.

They were taught how to select and care for skates, courtesy and safety rules, good form and basic steps in dancing.

The girls were given a proficiency award by the instructor and the skating badge by the leaders. Prizes and refreshments were provided by the rink owners.

The traditional flag ceremony was presented by Karen Long, Kelen Loftis, Ann Miskell, Ann Heintz, Beth Scherrills, Susan Art, Vicki Edrington, Michelle Kondrich, Jeanine Robles and Priscilla Clements.

HOUSE VANDALIZED

An auto drove through the yard at the home of Fred Cunningham, 13 Fontenac Lane, early Thursday and three soft drink bottles were thrown at the house, breaking five windows, a window sash, screen and frame and putting a hole in the siding. The auto left ruts in the yard and the neighboring yard at 11 Frontenac Lane before returning to the roadway and turning left on Devon Hill Lane. Damage was estimated at about $400.

Mrs. Margot Clements, Neighborhood V chairman, noted that this program will be offered in the future.

What Is A Trust?

This series of short articles is presented by the Trust Department, First Granite City National Bank, to better inform you about this important subject, and to dispel the mystique and wide-spread misunderstanding that surrounds it. Subsequent brief articles over the next few weeks will provide more details and insight into various types of trusts. Watch for them.

Gifts to Minors: Outright or Custodial:

The desire of parents (or more likely, grandparents) to give their children early training in the investment of their own assets is one reason for gifts to minors. Other reasons are the desire of a parent or grandparent to reduce his taxable estate and the hope of obtaining favorable capital gain income tax treatment. Why then should there be concern about making an outright gift to a minor?

For one thing, securities held in a minor's name cannot readily be transferred. If they must be sold, appointment of a guardian may be necessary. This is often an expensive process requiring a surety bond, court costs and legal fees. Also, the investments, which a guardian is permitted to make by statute are likely to be much more restrictive than desired.

To avoid some of these problems, Uniform Gifts to Minors Act has been adopted in almost all jurisdictions, including Illinois. The usual provisions permit a custodian to manage securities owned by a minor until he is 21.

However, there are distinct limitations to the use of the custodial approach. Most states, including Illinois, permit only the gift of securities, money, life insurance, or annuities, so the attempted gift of other property, such as a valuable farm, would not be possible.

A custodian, even though a member of the family and not compensated for his services, may, nevertheless, incur liability for losses if they result from his bad faith, gross negligence, or his failure to maintain the standard of prudence in investing required by the Act. A custodian (including in Illinois the donor if acting in this capacity) may resign and appoint his successor without court approval.

One of the advantages of the custodial arrangement is that income may be shifted from the high tax bracket of a donor to the lower bracket of a minor.

However, if the minor has income from another source, a trust might be a better arrangement since it can be a separate taxpayer, while the custodial arrangement cannot.

When income from gift property is used to satisfy the legal obligation of any person to support or maintain a minor, the income is taxed to that person. Thus, a minor's father would be taxed with income used for the minor's support, even though the gift was made by a distant relative.

What is a trust? We hope we've stripped some of the mystery from this not-so-simple question. If you should have additional questions, talk to your attorney and both of you are invited to visit us. We'll be glad to help.

And please remember: These short articles are offered only as a non-technical guideline to the question of trusts. They are not intended to be used as legal advice. That is the job of your own attorney.

18 students are honored in letter writing contest

Eighteen local students were winners of ribbons, trophies or plaques in the U.S. Post Office's first annual letter writing contest, it has been announced by Granite City Postmaster Jack Wilkins.

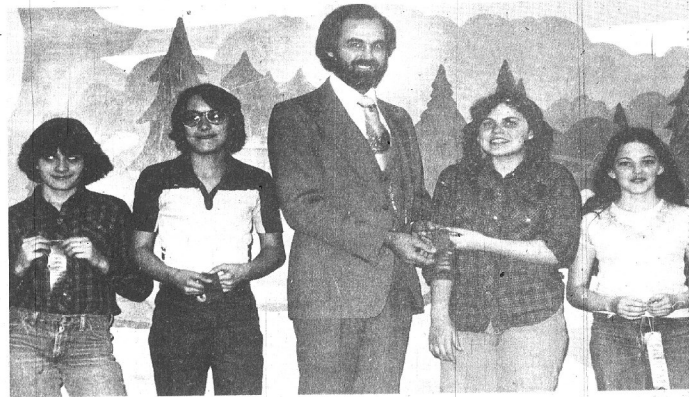

The postmaster explained that more than 4,000 students from schools in 208 zip code areas participated in the contest, writing letters in class on the topic, "Why write a letter."

Each teacher then selected a classroom winner and submitted his, or her letter to a panel of seven persons, including Wilkins, who judged them in East St. Louis, selecting 36 runners-up for trophies and 12 top winners, one for each grade from first grade to high school senior.

The 12 received plaques, in addition to the trophies and ribbons. Christopher King of Grigsby Junior High School was the only recipient in Granite City of a plaque. He and Shellee Hartzel of Granite City High School North received trophies for being among the 36 finalists.

Schools which participated in the contest were North, Grigsby and Coolidge Junior High School.

Postmaster Wilkins thanked all of the students for participating in the contest and expressed his hopes that they will enter it again next year.

Travelers Abroad hear Holy Land travelogue

Edmund Firner, vice-president of "Travelers Abroad," arranged a program which was presented at the March meeting of the club at Prather Junior High School.

Mrs. Genevieve McComis who has been a member of four groups which have visited the Holy Land, introduced the conductor of those tours, the Rev. Don Pierson, pastor of Nameoki Presbyterian Church.

The speaker explained how he organized his tours to satisfy the interests of the travelers in archaeology and religious history.

The tour starts at arrival in the airport at Amman, the capital of Jordan, one of the ten cities of the Decapolis who formed a league in the first century B.C. for the purpose of defending themselves against the surrounding Bedouin hordes. From there the trek leads to Petra, once an important caravan center where the buildings are carved out of rock.

This site was lost for several centuries and was rediscovered only in the late 1800s. Most elaborate of the ruins is the "Treasury of Pharaoh." The Edomites, mentioned in the book of Genesis, once lived here. Other civilization preceded and followed them.

The Romans built here an amphitheater, as was their custom. High places were used for sacrifice, in order to come close to God. Rev. Pierson made two trips with archaeologists who are now digging in this area.

In Tel Aviv, one sees a busy city, much like American cities. Modern life is intruding on the ancient. Camels are fast being replaced by autos. Along the Mediterranean coast one visits Caesaria, Caifa and Acre. Many minarets have tape recordings of calls to worship. However few mosques are seen praying in public. There are few Casside Jews, several branches of Judaism and a large number of agnostics in Israel.

Tunman, on the northwest coast of the Dead Sea, has a museum which houses the Dead Sea Scrolls which were unearthed in recent years. A huge Menorah stands in a park nearby. Because they built only with stone in this area, the inhabitants think our houses are built of firewood. Rev. Pierson explained.

In the city of Jerusalem can be seen the Dome of the Rock, the threshing floor where Abraham offered up Isaac, the mile square city within walls, the wall where great numbers of Jews come to pray, and many famous gates. The Holy City of Jesus' time lies 17 feet below the surface. Here, one is recalling events rather than visiting places. The word Tel means one city on top of another, the speaker noted.

Passing on to Bethlehem, one passes shepherds tending their flocks. Jericho is in a setting of orange groves and other lush vegetation — a lovely valley in the midst of barren mountains. The Jordan river is nearly dried up, due to the diversion of water for irrigation on both sides. In Galilee, the old and the new live side by side. The Samaritan people almost died out, but their numbers now have grown to about 700 people.

Nazareth, the town where Jesus spent his childhood, has a church which contains the only known statue of Jesus as a teen-ager, Rev. Pierson added.

Rev. Pierson presented highlights of four trips to the Holy Land, giving his listeners a clear picture and a deep feeling for people of these diverse cultures and a sense of history and the scriptures.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING SET FOR APRIL 3

The Granite City Women's Aglow Fellowship meeting will be held April 3 at 10 a.m. at the Salvation Army Corps Community Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

Harmony Class views film

Homer Huber presented a film on Health Care at a meeting of Harmony Class of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church held in Wesley Hall, last week.

A discussion followed regarding coverage available based on information from the Illinois Health Improvement Association.

Vice-President Jamie Hamrick presided at the business session with Charles Reimers giving the opening prayer.

A devotional lesson entitled "Lost and Found" taken from Robert Meddleton's book, "Messages of Spiritual Refreshment" was given by Harold Lynn.

Bishop will lead 'way of the cross'

Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas of the Catholic Diocese of Springfield has announced that the public "Way of the Cross" will be held again this year on Good Friday, April 4.

This year, the ceremony will be held at the new Prairie Capital Convention Center, Ninth and Washington Streets, Springfield, at 7:30 p.m. Ample parking is available in ramps immediately west of the center.

The "Way of the Cross" is a prayerful remembrance of the events leading to the crucifixion of Jesus. The ceremony will consist of choral and community singing, narration by young people of the Springfield Diocese, and prayerful reflections by Bishop McNicholas.

The bishop will be accompanied by young people who will be carrying the candles, which will be available as they walk the way of the cross.

Scheduled at a time when most parishes will have completed their Good Friday liturgy, the public Way of the Cross will be "an act of reparation for our own sins, and will be offered in atonement for the presence of sin in the world," the bishop said.

"Friday night is always a special night for our young people. I'm hoping this Good Friday night of many of them—college, high school and junior high age—will walk the Way of the Cross with us."

All are welcome to attend but special emphasis is being placed on youth participation. Representatives from all city and county high schools will announce each station and the bishop will lead the congregation in common prayer.

Bishop McNicholas said, "I'd especially like for families to respond to this invitation. All young people are invited to carry the candles, which will be available as they walk the way of the cross."

Youth groups from Central Illinois have designed and constructed banners that will represent each of the 14 stations. Sister Therese Martin, O.P., director of choral music at Sacred Heart Academy, will direct the singing.

The first public Way of the Cross was held last year on Good Friday at the State Fairgrounds in Springfield. Commenting on it, Bishop McNicholas said, "Unbelievable!"

"Ten days before I thought it was just a bad dream and perhaps should be abandoned. But it happened so abundantly. Many people were deeply moved, and one theme recurred constantly. Let's do it again next year."

The Gass Memorial Carillon will be flooding the gardens with Easter hymns as the crowd is assembled. A public address system and seating arrangements will be provided for all.

The services will open with an introit by two trumpeters, Andrew Channer and Allen Grove, from Belleville High School East.

The Rev. William Rensing of Our Lady of Assumption Catholic Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Bill Fox of Lake View Southern Baptist Church will lead singing.

The Rev. Paul Lund of the Fairview Heights Church of God will read the Easter story and the Rev. Tim Brown of Christ United Methodist will lead the

Laura Nicol is baptized

Laura Elizabeth Nicol, seven-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin G. Nicol, 1223 Rio Street, Spanish Lake, Mo., was baptized at St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church, last week. The Rev. Wilbur L. Lear officiated.

Maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ledbetter, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Nicol, served as godparents. She has a 2-year old brother, Matthew.

The infant wore a full length christening dress and a gold mother-of-pearl locket which had been worn by her mother and maternal grandmother and a tiny diamond ring which had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Gustave Karrer.

A reception was held afterward in the fellowship hall, at which Mrs. Nicol was assisted by Mrs. John Mefford and Miss Gail Lamont.

Guests included David Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. James Loy, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Roberts, Mrs. Louis Meek, Mrs. George Holtzschner, Edward Branding, Edna Rick, Stephen and Nathan, Miss Harrison and Miss Mabel Harrison, all of Granite City.

Former and maternal grandparents, Irvin Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Egan, Mr. and Mrs. James Vetter and sons, Shawn and Timothy, and Mrs. Shirley Seb.

Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nicol, Miss Lanette Nicol, Richard Nicol, Edwardsville, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pokkala, Normandy, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schreiber, Mrs. Mariel Schreiber, Edmar Schreiber, Miss Hulda Zirges, Miss Gloria Barenfanger, Mrs. Oscar F. Neuberger, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Griesbaum, all of Bethalto.

Following the reception, a dinner party was held for the immediate family at a St. Louis restaurant.

Two new members for senior group

Two new members, Augusta Pender and Vi Serviner, were introduced at the meeting of the More Merrier club.

The invocation was said by Ruby Corbett and Mrs. Grace Pender led the group in the pledge to the flag.

Edgar Faddock announced that an Old American Celebration will be held May 16 at the Firemen's Hall in Collinsville.

After a potluck dinner, games were played with prizes going to Marie Baker, Betty Cooper, Maggie Buckingham and Elsie Canner.

Financial planning is needed despite inflation

By DIANA GUSTAVSON
Although security is not in the nature of things, we invent strategies for outwitting fortune, and call them after their guiding deity —

Whole or permanent life insurance, social security. Australian writer and feminist Germaine Greer was right about security not being a natural state of affairs. There's nothing natural or secure about the way hard-earned money disappears these days.

With the price of our daily bread losing all touch with reality, it's sometimes difficult to contemplate long-range financial planning; getting through the day is tough enough.

But time does vanish almost as fast as last week's paycheck, and sooner or later everyone must deal with retirement, disability, the death of a business partner, or providing for a family when the breadwinner's no longer around.

Life insurance and some of its cousins can make planning for these events a nearly painless task. And while each person will no doubt want to explore the many other financial plans available, a visit with a life insurance agent may help open presently unknown doors to a secure financial future.

Here's how: If you bring home your family's only paycheck or provide a major portion of the income, any one of several life insurance policies may be critical to you in its traditional role — supporting your dependents if you die. Proceeds from a policy can provide an income for a specific number of years, or for life.

You might decide to earmark a certain amount for child care, set some more aside for college education, or help replace tax deductions lost when a spouse dies. Equally important, life insurance payments can help pay the sometimes catastrophic expenses of a final illness, estate taxes and other settlement costs.

Your life insurance agent or lawyer will probably stress the importance of that last item — settlement costs. Under the law, when a person dies, estate obligations aren't met, the people you most want to protect may be left waiting or may even be deprived of a large part of the income you thought they'd receive.

Among the obligations that must be met are income, estate and inheritance taxes, administration costs, estate debts and obligations, and attorney's fees.

If the cash available for these expenses isn't adequate, the proceeds of your estate will probably be forced to sell your most marketable property to raise the funds.

If you're married, you could reasonably expect to accumulate with your spouse a taxable estate of $200,000 to perhaps $500,000 by the time you reach your 60s.

It wouldn't be uncommon under current tax laws for the final settlement costs — excluding your mortgage — to total $75,000 or more. Life insurance can prevent your estate from being drained by delivering the quick cash your heirs will need to meet these obligations.

There are several different types of life insurance and your agent will want to explain what they offer and how they differ. Here are some of the policies you'll probably discuss:

Term insurance — Often called "pure protection," term insurance provides protection without accumulating cash value.

It may be especially attractive to younger persons, because it costs less than other forms of life insurance; however, premiums increase as you grow older.

Most term policies include a feature which permits you to switch from term coverage to "permanent coverage" without a medical exam.

Whole or permanent life insurance — As its name implies, this coverage can provide protection for your whole life. It is a unique contract that provides a set amount of death protection — and other benefits — for a level annual premium that stays the same year after year.

The other benefits include automatic premium loans that keep coverage in force even though a premium payment is missed, extended term insurance, "paid up" insurance features, relatively low interest policy loans, and cash values.

If you're among the growing number of Americans who own their own businesses individually or with partners, business life insurance protection can also be invaluable. Insurance funds can keep the business operating, pay estate taxes, liquidate a co-owner's interest, or keep you going until a key employee is replaced.

Several business life insurance plans are available and can be tailored to meet the needs of businesses large or small, owned individually, or through the business. Your agent can advise you on which plan would best meet your particular needs.

Insurance is also a life saver if you become disabled by illness or a serious accident. If you're protected by a disability program, you can count on a guaranteed income as long as you can't work.

A disability income policy will pay a specified amount of money every month for the duration of the benefit period in your policy. And, by adding a waiver of premium benefit to a new life policy, the insurance company will pay your premium for you while you're disabled.

Another point to remember is that if you're disabled, you can count on a whole life insurance policy's cash value to provide quick, relatively low-cost loans.

Although being disabled can make you a questionable risk for a bank or loan company, you have a contractual right to borrow a life insurance policy's cash value and the money is yours for the asking, usually at lower rates than most lending institutions.

However, if you should die before repaying the loan, the unpaid balance including the interest owed is deducted from the face value of the policy.

You may also use the cash value as collateral for loans from banks or other lending institutions. While we've already covered most of the problems that can arise because of early death or a disabling injury, it's nice to think that you'll live on to a ripe old age and enjoy some of what you've worked for.

That's a real probability for most women, since they have a longer lifespan than men.

But, they also risk outliving their income.

Social Security can provide little more than a subsistence allowance and, to make ends meet, it could become necessary to use estate assets which should be left alone to help generate income. There is, however, a solution.

For many people who don't want to outline their resources nor dip into estate assets, an annuity is the ideal answer. Quite simply, annuities can guarantee an income for life, no matter how long that may be. There are also available with minimum payment periods of varying durations.

One of the two types of annuities, the fixed annuity, guarantees a specified income, paid in installments as long as you live. The other type, the variable annuity, pays income which varies in relation to the value of securities in which purchase payments are invested.

Most people feel more secure with a balanced mixture of guaranteed and variable investments. Annuities aren't for everyone, but remember one point about them — if you own an annuity, it's impossible to outlive your investment.

Once thought of as stodgy investments for the elderly, annuities are now meeting tax planning and money management needs for many people. They are worth exploring.

There are many more ways insurance can help you plan your future and, in doing so, give you a lot of peace of mind in the present. One final thought: If you decide to call an insurance agent, call a good one. Like a good stock broker or lawyer, an agent should be able to answer all your questions and offer suggestions which parallel your financial needs.

The easiest way to identify a real pro is to look for someone who is a chartered life underwriter (CLU). The CLU designation indicates completion of a series of 10 examinations administered by the American College of Life Underwriters.

Naturally, many good agents with extensive experience haven't received the designation. So, whether you choose to deal with a CLU or not, try to find an agent who is well trained.

Eskridge registrar at BAC

Robert C. Eskridge will be the new registrar and director of admissions at Belleville Area College beginning July 1. He will replace Vincent Margerum, who will retire at the end of this contract year.

Eskridge is a native of Michigan. He entered the Air Force upon graduation from high school and served as an administrative supervisor in the office of the commander of the 13th Air Force in the Philippines and in the office of the deputy commander of the U.S. Strike Command at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida.

Eskridge received a bachelor degree from the University of Omaha, a master of science degree from SIU at Edwardsville and a doctorate of philosophy from St. Louis U. Upon his retirement from the Air Force, he became director of grants and foundations at McKendree College, going to Belleville Area College as assistant registrar in February 1977. The BAC Board of Trustees last week unanimously approved the recommendation of Eskridge for the registrar's position.

Doris Sieland was approved as manager of the St. Clair County Multi-Purpose Senior Center; Jeanne Davis as project director of the Federal Adult Basic Education Grant; and Edward Escobedo as a maintenance employee.

Nancy Theis was named women's softball coach, and Don Chapman, James Cox and Dr. Louis Rebling were re-appointed as supervisors for the college's career-oriented division for the 1980-81 academic year.

Belleville Area College will be the first community college to have a degree program for emergency medical technicians and paramedics if its request is approved by the Illinois Community College Board. The BAC trustees accepted the recommendation of the administration to begin such a program at the college.

For the past year, BAC has been cooperating with Memorial Hospital of Belleville to provide volunteers to serve as paramedics.

The new associate degree program has been developed through coordination with the Illinois Department of Public Health and the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The curriculum will probably go into effect at the college during the fall 1980 semester, it was related. Edward O'Malley and Avery Schermer were named to serve on a committee to choose the recipient of BAC's special recognition award, given annually at graduation ceremonies. Previous recipients of the award have been Orison Seibert, George T. Wilkins Sr. of Granite City, an Pep Lutz.

BAC administrators were told by their board to enter into discussions with operators of Parks Bi-State Airport in Cahokia to determine whether the operators may be able to provide space for the college's aviation maintenance and aviation electronics programs.

Exploratory talks will begin soon to ascertain what arrangements might be made to keep the two programs at Bi-State, where facilities housing them burned almost two years ago.

Since the fire, the programs have operated out of Pitzman School in Cahokia.

College officials stated they prefer to keep the programs at Bi-State if possible, since it is the only airport in the college district which has a control tower.

Oliver W. Knepper and Max Yovandich, who have been with BAC since the permanent campus was built in 1971, have resigned.

Knepper, a maintenance employee, will retire March 31. Yovandich, assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds, will retire June 30.

In accepting the retirement of the two men, President William R. Keel stated, "Both have done an outstanding job." Both men are residents of Belleville.

BAC students will pay $16 per credit hour tuition starting with the fall 1980 semester. The board, in approving the $2 per credit hour increase, did away with the $5 per credit hour student activity fee that has been charged to all BAC students enrolled for college credit courses.

Tuition and fees will remain unchanged for this summer.

Activities for women

A new session of women's "swimnastics" is scheduled to begin today at the Tri-City Area YMCA. The class meets on Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9 to 9:45.

Lee Suarez teaches the class, which includes 30 minutes of exercise in the pool followed by 15 minutes of open swim. The class runs continuously through the year, and costs $8 per four-week session for non-"Y" members. There is no charge for "Y" members.

For those interested, there is a women's instructional swim class immediately following the Suarez class. There is a small fee for non-"Y" members for the instruction.

Besides the pool exercise class, the "Y" also offers women's fitness classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 8, and each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from noon to 1 p.m.

Tina Taylor teaches the evening class, which is followed by volleyball or swimming. There is no charge for members and a cost of $8 for non-members.

Ellen Wilson teaches the noon fitness class. It is also free to members and costs $12 per four-week session for non-members.

20 year reunion is being planned

The 1960 January class of Granite City Senior High School is planning a 20-year reunion to be held July 19 at the Sheraton-Westport Hotel.

Information about the following people who have not been located is being sought: Dorothy Chance, Mary A. Darnell, Phyllis Curtis, Rosemary Haynes, Nancy Hoffman, Carol Miller, Robert Strong and Barbara Wyatt.

Those with information may contact Connie Fitter Strotheide, No. 1 Shirlwin Drive, at 931-6411; or Judie Potts Levin, 2565 Ivy Lane at 931-1608.

Gymnastics offered here

A new four-week gymnastics session will begin tomorrow at the Tri-City Area YMCA for youth aged six and older, through high school. The class meets on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:45 to 4:45.

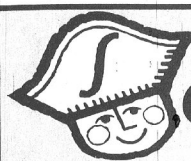

Theresa McFall and Tina Taylor will teach the class, which offers instruction in tumbling, parallel bars, balance beam and vault exercises.

The cost for the four-week class is $2 for "Y" members and $12.50 for non-members. To register, residents may stop by or call the "Y" at 876-7200.

Census is needed to understand changes in nation president

By President Jimmy Carter

Our Constitution requires that there be a census of the people in the United States once every ten years. The Twentieth Decennial Census will be taken beginning April 1, 1980.

It is vitally important to everyone that this census be a complete and accurate report of the nation's population and resources. Its results determine the representation of the states in the House of Representatives, the redrawing of congressional boundaries, and state and local redistricting.

They also provide the basis for distributing large amounts of funds under various federal programs among the states and communities.

The census is also important for a broader purpose.

Americans are a free and mobile people. Significant and rapid changes take place in our country. To better understand ourselves and make intelligent decisions for the future, we depend greatly on our census.

As president of the United States of America, I declare and make known that under the law it is the duty of every person to participate in the census by answering all questions in the census schedule applying to him or her and the family to which he or she belongs, and to the home being occupied.

Every person in the United States can be sure that there will be no improper use of the information given in the census.

Answers cannot be released in any way which will harm the individual.

By law, individual information collected will not be used for purposes of taxation, investigation, or regulation, or in connection with military or jury service, the compulsion of school attendance, the regulation of immigration, or with the enforcement of any national, state, or local law or ordinance.

Appropriations for gymnasium

Senate Bill 1660, which appropriates $7,113,200 to the Capital Development Board for permanent improvements at public community colleges and public universities, was introduced last week by Senator Sam M. Vadala, Democrat, Edwardsville.

The measure also allots $1 million to the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University from that institution's income fund for construction of a multi-purpose facility at SIUE.

"It is a real honor for me to introduce this crucial legislation," Vadala commented. "Let me assure everyone that every dollar included in this bill has been carefully examined and is urgently needed. I will do all in my power to see that the appropriations are enacted with dispatch in this General Assembly."

"At a time when the public is demanding full justification for every state expenditure, it is equally important to realize that to let our education plants fall into decline would be shortsighted and dangerous."

These projects have been reviewed by the Board of Higher Education and the governor's staff and will, I'm sure, get full scrutiny by the appropriate legislative committees.

"On the appropriation in support of the multi-purpose building for SIUE, we have an instance where the funding for a building that should have been built 14 years ago is not only coming from the CDB.

"The SIUE system puts such high priority on the need for a building to develop its physical education programs, house teams for intercollegiate competition in athletics, and provide avenues for recreation for both the university community and the region, that it has set aside existing funds on its own to move the project forward."

"SIUE is the only Illinois public institution of higher education without decent facilities in regard to physical education and athletics in the entire state."

Pointing to the statewide scope of the appropriation, Vadala commented that the figure of over $71 million represents an emphasis by the state on "solid priorities and clear essentials."

"In the case of the remodeling project for the women's gymnasium at SIU at Carbondale, we are recognizing that women's athletics have not been given proper attention in the past. We have a lot of catching up to do."

"Looking at health from another aspect, we are providing for clinical services at the SIU Medical School in Springfield, as well as a dental clinic in East St. Louis. We are addressing a whole range of human needs in East St. Louis and important improvements will be made at the SIUE Dental School in Alton and the Wagner Complex in Edwardsville."

Attend Children of Revolution convention

The 42nd annual state conference for the Children of the American Revolution was held at the Holiday Inn in Rolling Meadows, last week. The local Six Mile Prairie Society had three members, Eric Wilson, president, Elizabeth Wilson, registrar, and David Wilson, chaplain, attending with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Wilson, senior president of the local society.

Eric Wilson gave the president's report and accepted two awards from the state society—first place for most contributions by a new society, and second place for greatest increase in membership.

Mr. Wilson served as senior government studies chairman for the state society in the past year and as a teller for the voting of new state officers at the conference.

During a weekend banquet, Eric Wilson was presented a patriot pin by his mother, Janet Wilson. Funds obtained from sale of the patriot pins goes toward the Illinois state project.

Guest speaker for the banquet was William Alderfer, executive director of the Illinois State Historical Society, who spoke on "Lincoln and the Illinois State Historical Society."

Miss Heidi Mitchell, state CAR president, presented Alderfer with a check from the president's project toward purchase of additional authentic Lincoln items for the Illinois Historical Society.

New state officers were installed with the exception of John Hauck, president-elect, who will be installed at the National conference in Washington, D.C., in April. The president-elect has chosen Eric Wilson to be national magazine chairman for the Illinois State Society.

Those families whose children would be interested in joining the CAR are being asked to contact Mrs. Wilson, 876-4484, for details and objectives of the society.

ALEXANDER'S RESTAURANT, the former Tony's Restaurant at 5240 Nameoki Road, is now open after extensive remodeling. The new owners, Herman Schroeder and Alex Tarpoff, said the theme for the new restaurant has been "first class dining," from the valet parking to waiters in tuxedos and a varied menu. The lounge also has been remodeled and opens at 3:30 p.m. daily. Dinner is served after 5 p.m. (Press-Record Photo)

Tougher sentences on rape are sought

State Senator Sam M. Vadala, D-Edwardsville, during the weekend introduced a series of bills dealing with local and statewide concerns, including one that calls for tougher prison sentences for convicted rapists.

"The crime of rape is, next to murder, the most heinous criminal act performed by a human being," Vadala said.

"There has been a disgusting and shocking increase in the number of rapes committed throughout Illinois and, in particular, in my own area, the 36th District."

"If we must establish tougher, no-nonsense penalties for rapists, then I will be more than happy to lead the charge."

"It's the Illinois General Assembly's duty to assure the safety of its citizens from hoodlums and those who flaunt the laws," the senator stressed.

Vadala's bill calls for an increase in the prison sentence for a convicted first-time rapist from a minimum of six years in prison to 15 years, without the offense having to qualify within the "special aggravation category."

In addition, the bill extends to life imprisonment the maximum sentence for a rape conviction, when there are circumstances of "special aggravation" to the commission of the crime.

"I am confident that the legislature will agree with me that rapists must be punished and punished harshly so that women in Illinois can be more free from fear of being attacked in their own neighborhoods," Vadala said.

In other developments, he introduced the following legislation:

— A $75,000 appropriation for remodeling the Illinois Department of Conservation District Four office in Alton. The appropriation would provide funding to restore the office to an appearance similar to the way the structure looked in the 1880s.

— A bill which would require public hearings and referenda before a township in Illinois could annex property within the boundaries of an adjacent township.

— An amendment to the existing state statute on dormant mineral rights. This bill would require a circuit court hearing before mineral, coal, ore and gas interests would be deemed abandoned. He said the purpose of the bill is to encourage mineral development and unfetter title to property.

— A bill to allow issuance of revenue bonds for new construction at township hospitals. Private hospitals have long used this method to expand, and the bill would aid the Wood River Township Hospital's plans to expand existing facilities.

A companion bill to restructure the manner in which trustees of township hospitals are selected. The legislation is aimed at improving representation on the hospital's board as it relates to population density.

— A $35,000 appropriation for the Mississippi River Parkway Commission.

Savings on school employee health insurance are sought

If the Illinois Association of School Boards achieves its latest goal, Illinois school boards will save local taxpayers as much as $15 million a year.

"Our aim is to help school boards save 20 percent of the $75 million they now spend each year to provide employee health insurance," says IASB executive director Harold P. Seamon.

IASB is introducing an alternative way to pay for employee benefit programs, including self-insured health benefits costing 10 to 30 percent less than current insurance premiums. The program is being marketed under the trade name AMICUS, which is Latin for "friend."

"By pooling health benefit dollars in a group trust, we can save an average of $100 for every school employee in the state," Seamon said, adding that there are about 150,000 eligible school employees in Illinois.

"The savings for individual districts will vary widely, depending upon a number of factors," he explained. "Districts taking part in the program will pay for actual claims — which our consultants tell us represent, on the average, 70 percent of insurance premium costs — plus administrative expenses."

"Districts will make monthly deposits in a trust fund based on a percentage of their present premiums and their claims experience. If a district's deposits for any year exceed its incurred claims and administrative costs, the district will receive a refund based on the difference and on interest earned while the funds were held," he said.

To guard against unusually large claims costs, districts will purchase stop-loss insurance from Lloyd's of London. Typically, this will cost only a fraction of a district's savings.

In addition to the initial savings, the program offers protection against large premium increases based on a single high-cost accident, Seamon said. Each district's deposit will be re-evaluated annually, based on continuing claims experience.

"Naturally, claims costs can be expected to increase as health-care costs continue to rise, but we expect these inflation-related increases to be offset somewhat by more careful use of benefits by the insured employees," Seamon said.

"The fact that savings will be returned to the district will be a strong incentive for keeping costs down — an incentive typical insurance programs do not offer."

"This does not mean benefits will be reduced, Seamon stressed. "AMICUS is not a standard benefit package, but a money-saving way of funding whatever benefits a board chooses to offer," he said. "Some boards may use the savings to offer increased benefits, others may offer the same benefits at reduced cost."

"Self-insuring benefit plans have become increasingly attractive both to private and public sector employers, including a number of Illinois school districts," Seamon said.

"However, risk factors and administrative costs have heretofore made self-insuring impractical for many districts, particularly the smaller ones. By joining the IASB statewide plan, even the smallest district can reap the savings of self-insuring and group purchasing."

HEARING ON OLD JAIL

A public hearing concerning the future of the old Madison County Jail will be held Wednesday in the basement of the county courthouse at 7:30 p.m.

Alternatives include selling the jail, demolishing it or rehabilitating it. The facility has been the county jail for more than 100 years.

COMMUNITY CIVIC BALLET COMPANY presented its sixth spring concert at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Sunday at 3 p.m. The three-part program consisted of "Valse" by Chopin, "Francesca da Rimini" by Tchaikovsky and "Diversissement." The program is partly funded by the Illinois Arts Council. The group, in existence since 1974, is a non-profit cultural organization and consists of 28 dancers currently, aged 8 to 30. An audition will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. April 20 at 401 W. Lincoln, Caseyville, for dancers interested in joining the company and with more than five years of ballet training; 3 to 4:30 p.m. for three or four years of training.

WRITING COMPETITION. Gerald O'Gorman (left), assistant professor of English language and literature at SIUE, and Garry Murphy, assistant professor in the same department, review essays entered in the university's second annual High School Writers' Prize Competition. About 20 young finalists from high schools in the region, parents, teachers and principals were honored at a reception Thursday evening in the University Center. The high school student winning first place in the essay competition will be awarded $200; second place, $100; and third place, $50. Certificates of honor will be awarded to all finalists, along with certificates of achievement for all entering the competition. The contest is sponsored by the SIUE School of Humanities, Alumni Association, Friends of the Library, and the Office of the President.

Theater auditions

Auditions for the theater production of Noel Coward's "Present Laughter" at SIUE will be held tonight, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock in Room 203B of the Communications Building. Performances of the state production have been scheduled May 28-31, according to William Vilhauer, chairman of the department of theater and dance.

Members of the university and neighboring communities are being encouraged to audition. SIUE students and others may also apply for positions in acting, costuming, technical work and business management. Vilhauer said those interested in auditioning for acting roles should either prepare a one-to-three-minute modern monologue or a two-to-three minute scene, preferably memorized. The piece should give the actor maximum opportunity to demonstrate his or her full vocal range, flexibility and control. The piece must be presented in good American stage speech and also in standard British accent.

An auditioner may be asked to sight read from the play. Copies are available in Room 1031 of the Communications Building. There are six female and five male roles.

Senior citizen fitness classes

The local YMCA, 876-7200, has announced that two new series of fitness classes for senior citizens will begin this week.

Ellen Wilson will be instructing both classes, one of which will be held at the "Y" and the other at The Anchorage recreation center.

In both classes, she emphasizes exercise for the joints, plus exercises for balance and flexibility.

The class at The Anchorage is free to residents and meets on Monday and Thursday mornings from 10:15 to 11 a.m. The "Y" class is free to members and costs $4 for non-members per four-week session. It meets from 9 to 10 a.m., also on Mondays and Thursdays.

Besides her classes, the "Y" is also offering a swimming pool exercise class for seniors on Fridays from 9 to 10 a.m. Nancy Halvachs teaches the class, which is free to members and costs $2 per four-week session for non-members.

Cahokia meet champion

North finishes third in Belleville Relays

By PETE HAYES

BELLEVILLE — The Granite City North boys track team showed its depth here Saturday and finished a strong third in the annual Belleville East Relays. Behind Cahokia and the host team.

North finished the meet with 103 points. Cahokia had 114 and Belleville East 110. Mount Vernon finished fourth with 94, followed by Granite City South with 72 points.

Belleville West finished sixth with 69 points, Edwardsville 62, Collinsville 36.

Granite North finished the meet with four relay champions. South had three. "I was happy with our showing," said North head coach Harry Lang. "The kids competed very well. I wasn't surprised, either. In fact, we could have finished higher, but a couple of events that would normally have given us points, didn't give us any."

The meet was conducted in the "relay" style. That is, every event is conducted as a relay event, including hurdles and field events. There were no individual events.

North's first places came in the Freshman-Sophomore 3200 meter relay, the Freshman-Sophomore sprint medley, the Varsity 800 meter relay and the Freshman-Sophomore 220 meter low hurdle shuttle. Both varsity and freshman-sophomore results counted toward one single score.

North's varsity 800 meter relay team of Tim Rozycki, Tim Dudley, John Kefalas and Kevin Buchanan won their event in a time of 1:35.0, more than a full second ahead of Cahokia's second place time of 1:36.3. The North freshman-sophomore team of Bob Portell, Greg Jackson, Paul Hoosier and Roger Glotfelle won the 3200 meter relay in a time of 9:06.4. Kevin Perkins, Mark McWhorter, Jim Wyrostek and Brian Pickens of North teamed up to win the Freshman-Sophomore sprint medley in a time of 3:59.3. Edwardsville was second in 4:00.7. Granite City South came in third with a 4:08.9.

North's trio of Dean, Hubert and Peterson won the freshman-sophomore 220 low hurdle shuttle in 1:39.9. Each of South's firsts came in varsity events. The Warriors' varsity 3200 meter relay team of Drew Geisler, Tim Dix, Jim McQuaide and Dave Houston won their event in a time of 8:23.3. Collinsville was second in 8:28.3.

South's Geisler, Don Keeling, Dix and Houston teamed up to win the varsity distance medley in a time of 11:09.7. Cahokia finished second in 11:14.1.

The warriors strong shot put contingent edged out Mt. Vernon for first place in that event. Onzen, Grove, Malchett and Reed totalled 54.92, compared to Mt. Vernon's 54.34.

GC coaches pleased with teams' efforts

By PETE HAYES

BELLEVILLE — Granite City North track coach Harry Lang was a happy man here Saturday. Granite City South track coach Mel Bunting was a happy man here Saturday.

Lang watched as his North boys track team put on its strongest performance ever in the Belleville East Relays and came away with a solid third place finish. Lang saw his Warriors finish fifth, but with a nearly all-varsity lineup.

Even though the Steelers didn't win the meet, they probably could have, according to Lang. "We usually get points out of the long jump and the triple jump," he said. "Those are two events we count on in every meet to get us points. But we didn't get any from either of them."

North got some strong first place performances from four relay teams, but the key was the second, third, fourth and fifth places the Steelers were able to add up. "That's the key to doing well in a relay meet," said Lang. "Depth is our strong point this season. And we showed it."

Bunting was more pleased with his team's effort than Lang was with his. "I'm very pleased," he said. "We did it mostly all with varsity athletes." Both freshman-sophomore and varsity events were counted toward teams' scores at the meet.

"If you take away the freshmen and sophomores," said Bunting. "We finish second to Cahokia by only two points. I think that shows we'll be strong this season." Taking away freshman-sophomores, the final scores would have been Cahokia 96 in first place and Granite City South and Belleville East tied for second with 62.

Lang said he wasn't surprised by the outcome. "I expected it," he said. "We had a team meeting Friday. We sat down and I figured out that we could get 112 points out of the meet. Our relay teams are one of our strongest points anyway. In fact, with a few extra place-getters here and there, we could have been as good as 124 points."

A 124-point finish would have easily given North the championship, since first place Cahokia had 114 and second place Belleville East had 110.

"I told the kids we could do it, if we got out there and scored something in every event. We didn't score in everything, but we did pretty well."

Lang was able to pinpoint what cost his team the meet championship. "Both of our 440 relay teams (varsity and freshman-sophomore) failed to place," he said. "If we get strong performances from both of them, we win the meet."

There were two substitutes on the varsity 440 relay team. One was for regular John Kefalas, who did not arrive in Belleville from a science club trip to Carbondale in time for the event. Kefalas did arrive in time for the 880 meter relay. And Lang was glad he did. "He got here about five minutes before the race,"

Lincoln girls roar to cage championship

By TOM SCHOCKER
For the Press-Record

CHAMPAIGN — Walking down the corridor that leads off the floor of the Assembly Hall in Champaign was Earnest Riggins. He had a basketball in his hand that he was tossing up in the air while showing the biggest smile possible.

Photographers were busily snapping pictures as the roar from within the high dome was still echoing the shouts of, "We're number one!"

Riggins had a right to be smiling. He's the coach of the Tigertettes from East St. Louis Lincoln and his girls had just won the IHSA Class AA state title.

Many people at the Assembly Hall during the girls' state tournament over the weekend were comparing the Chicago Dolton Thronridge dynasty of 1970-72 to boys basketball with that of Lincoln. Whether true or not the Tigertettes lived up to such thoughts as they literally walked through a line-up of competitive teams enroute to a goal that had eluded them a year ago...the state championship. Chalking up a 64-47 crushing of Chicago Marshall (29-3), the Tigertettes carried home the championship trophy along with a perfect 31-0 record to the confines of Southern Illinois.

Entering the press conference room after the game, still tossing the game ball in the air, Riggins' happiness was evident. Holding the ball in front of himself and to the reporters he said, "This is ours, yes sir finally ours." When asked what he was going to do with it, Riggins replied, "I would like to cut it up into 35 pieces and give a piece to every girl that has contributed to our success. I say 35 because that is how many people have helped us get to where we are now. There are a lot of deserving people who should get a part of this."

For Lincoln, the victory capped off a remarkable season, which included only one close contest, a 63-61 win against Marshall in Chicago. Riggins had been criticized about playing teams that were not competitive enough and that they would be better off playing against themselves in practice.

"That's very true," said Riggins, "and we don't enjoy beating teams by 50 or 60 points, but what do you do when you play your sophomores and then say to them don't take the fast break because the opposing girls can't catch up?"

Those girls might not have been able to catch up with the speedy Tigertettes, but the Marshall girls showed Lincoln that they were equal to the task. Giving Lincoln its best game of the year, the Commandos played a see-saw battle for the first 10 minutes of the contest before Jackie Soynea and company took charge.

Running off six consecutive points, Joyner's patented turn-around jumper in the lane and Teresa Jones' driving layin' opened up a relatively close game, giving Lincoln an eight point spread at halftime and something to think of in the locker room. The Commandos were there to play.

The Tigertette's usual fine performance in the third quarter was not to be. Marshall's fighting Pam Gavin hit a couple of 10 foot jumper's within the first minute of the second half and coming off the bench, Annette Jones' driving layin' turned the contest into a fight battle.

For 25 minutes, the somewhat sparse but loud crowd of 4,000 basketball fans watched a fine championship clash. However, the last seven minutes saw the true champion arise. Running off another offensive burst, the Tigertettes and Joyner pulled into an 11 point lead which forced Marshall into a time-out.

Fouling Lincoln was the only course of action that Marshall could do in order to climb back into the game. But this sealed their fate as the intended foulee was Justine Moore who connected on six of 11 attempts in final two minutes of play. Lincoln then proceeded to prove its dominance by reeling off 10 unanswered tallies blowing the contest open, giving the Tigertettes its first state title.

Joyner led the scoring for Lincoln pepping in 20 points and concluding the tournament with 59 tallies (Continued on Page 19)

GRANITE CITY — Mother Nature decided she didn't want to watch any baseball over the weekend.

Both Granite City North's and Granite City South's schedules were home doubleheaders Saturday were rained out, as was South's single game that was set for Sunday at the Warriors' Sports Complex.

North was to have hosted Springfield Senior High Saturday in a doubleheader, while South was to have played two Saturday with Chicago Marist and one Sunday with New Lenox Providence. North has not announced a make-up date for its games. South's games will not be made up.

But South was able to get in a game Thursday night in a last-minute schedule change. The Warriors played their first game of the season against Marist...and their first ever under their newly installed lights. South defeated the Chicago team 4-2.

North saw its record dip to 1-1 Thursday when it lost a 3-2 decision to Belleville East in a regularly-scheduled game.

South's victory was a good one for South coach Conrad "Dabe" Champion. Not only did his team come from behind, but it also handed him his 100th career victory at South.

South young Warriors

spotted Marist a 2-0 lead after the first inning, but battled back for the victory.

The Warriors scored one run in the bottom of the first. Mark Clark singled, advanced to second on a passed ball, went to third when Marist's catcher threw out a South batter at first after dropping a called third strike, and scored when Rich Cope hit into a fielder's choice.

In the fourth, Rich Cope scored on a single by Blake Ambush. South took the lead in the fifth when Geirge Jarvis doubled and scored on a single by Keith Mouria.

South got its last run in the sixth when Jeff Bergrader hit an inside-the-park home run.

NORTH ALMOST pulled off a comeback win of its own. The Steelers usually powerful bats were silent until the seventh inning when they came to life.

North was hitless going into that final frame. Trailblazer, the Steelers' Bob Batey walked and scored on a double by third baseman Mike Robertson, North's first hit of the day and Robertson's first hit of the season. Robertson then went to third when center fielder Bob Ford reached base on an error by the East second baseman.

After an infield out, North first baseman Dennis Page stroked a single up the middle, scoring Robertson and sending Ford to third.

But Ford was picked off third by East pitcher John Boyle, ending the threat.

Keith Burton was the starting pitcher for North and looked good, allowing only one hit in his four innings of work.

CHERYL SCHOOLFIELD, a graduate of Granite City North High, beats out an infield hit Saturday against Northern Illinois in the Gateway Invitational Tournament. Schoolfield, a sophomore, plays centerfield for the Cougars. SIUE finished second in the tournament, defeating NIU 3-2 and losing the Western Illinois University 4-0 in the championship game.

SIUE-E women finish second in tourney

By NANCY WEIL for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The women's softball team of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville took second in the first of three scheduled home tournaments this past weekend, (March 28 and 29). The Cougars were defeated in the championship game, 4-0, by Western Illinois University.

The first day of competition was overcast and wet, but the Cougars overcame the weather to win their first game against the Chicago Sun-Times All-State team named here Sunday.

Dennis Page and Mike Robertson of Granite City North and James Blasingame of Granite City South were the Granite City players named. All three are seniors.

Page is one of the most prolific scorers in the history of prep softball in Granite City. The 5'9" guard has become known around the area for his ability to almost single-handedly bring his team back.

Robertson, a 6'1" forward, is the second part of the North Steelers' one-two punch, along with Page. He averaged nearly 20 points a game.

Robertson's emergence this season gave base. Denise Schanke, who spent a large part of last season out with an ankle injury, will be on first. She can also be called on for some relief pitching.

Cindy Rakers of Trenton is a probable starter at right or left field. She is a freshman. Shirley Ryback, the third member of the team from Cahokia, will add depth as the back-up catcher. She could see some playing time, said Jones.

Becky Saylor of Wood River is a junior pitcher. The right-hander will "add a lot of strength to our team," predicted Jones.

Tracy Scanlan of Godfrey will back up Schanke at first base. She is a freshman. Pam Weller of Dwight is a freshman outfielder who will add depth to that defensive unit, according to Jones.

The Cougars will play a pair of games March 17 opening against Northeast A & M in Miami, Okla. They will travel on Tuesday, March 18 to Tahlequah, Okla., for a twinbill against Northeastern State. The next day, they will be in Edmond, Okla., for the third doubleheader against Central State. On the 20th they will stop for a pair of games with Missouri Southern in Joplin, Mo.

The first home game will take place during the SIUE Gateway Invitational, March 28 and 29.

Missouri State University, 11-3.

On Saturday morning, the Cougars defeated Northern Illinois University, 3-2. Later that afternoon, they added up their only loss to WIU in the tourney. The Cougars are now 5-5.

Northeast took third place by defeating Eastern Illinois University, 1-0 on a one run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning. The homer came off the bat of Cheryl Arnold.

Several Cougars improved their batting averages over the weekend. Amy Frey, the Cougar catcher moved to the .536 mark to lead her team at bat. Cindy Rakers is in second with an average of .444. Third baseman Patty Sussen moved her mark to .381. Outfielder Cathy Biando finished at .266 and pitcher-outfielder Tammy Rainwater ended the tourney at .259.

This coming weekend, April 4 and 5, the Cougars will host the SIUE Cougar Invitational. Play is scheduled to begin at noon on Friday and will continue throughout Saturday. St. Francis College, Chicago State University, DePaul University, William Woods College and University of Illinois-Chicago Circle will join SIUE in the competition.

All-state mention for 3

CHICAGO — Three Granite City high school basketball players were given Honorable Mention on the Chicago Sun-Times All-State team named here Sunday.

Blasingame is one of the best players to come from Granite since the days of Terry Ripka in the early 1970's. A deadly shot from the outside, he was the critical ingredient in many of the Warriors' victories this season.

None of the three Granite Cityans has announced where he will attend college next season. Page and Robertson also are starters on Granite City North's basketball team (Robertson is an all-star on the steelers' soccer squad also).

Collinsville's Bill Mosier and Mitch Arnold of Effingham were the only area players named to the "starting" All-State team.

Kris Jenner of Macomb, a selection last season as a junior, was given Special Mention.

Other area players given special mention were John Smith and Troy Washburn of Alton, Uwe Blab of Effingham, James Douglas of East St. Louis, Todd Porter of East St. Louis, Lincoln, Mark Campbell of Collinsville, Scott Piper of Mt. Vernon and Kent Knebelkamp of Belleville East.

Others named to the Honorable Mention squad from this area included Dan Coddington of Wood River, Steve Ridghead and Mike Ginzle of O'Fallon, Jon Collins of Cahokia, Dan Allaria of Edwardsville, Dale Grupe of Effingham, Paul Starell of Highland, Mike Gung of Belleville East and Ricky Slaughter of East St. Louis Lincoln.

Lady Cougars are hopeful

By NANCY WEIL for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — This year's women's softball team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is "probably the most talented team we've ever had," according to Cindy Jones, women's softball coach at the University.

And this is a situation that makes Coach Jones very happy — "excited," in her words.

All that this team needs to do in order to secure a spot in the national tournament in late spring is overcome the "freshman jitters," according to Jones.

"This task must be accomplished by the seven freshmen on the 15-woman squad. Two of the players who aren't freshmen are newcomers to the SIUE team, so they, too, must overcome those "rookie jitters." And the six veterans, well, they have to play well or lose their positions, the coach said.

That's the word from Jones as her team prepares to travel to Oklahoma starting March 14 for a three-day eight-game spring break before they return for regular Division II competition.

All of the women on this year's team have the potential to start. As Jones read over the roster she commented, "She will start... she probably won't... she'll see playing time." Not bad statements for a coach to find herself saying before the season begins.

Especially in Jones' case. The Cougars had depth problems last year, particularly in pitching. Tammy Rainwater, who will be returning as one of two front-line pitchers, was the only woman on the squad who had any real pitching experience last year.

We'll have increased pitching depth this year," said Jones. "Last year, we only had Tammy, and there's just so much you can ask of one player."

Jones describes her team overall as: "Exciting and interesting to watch. They hustle, and most of the time they are in good moods. They're just as excited as I am."

Added to pitching depth and enthusiasm is hitting depth. Veterans Maggie Dyer, who will play left or right field, and Amy Frey, this year's captain and starting catcher, are both powerful hitters.

Other members of the team include: Cathy Biando, a freshman from Melville. According to Coach Jones, Biando is a probable starter in left field.

Janet Ford, a sophomore from Cahokia, is in her first year of athletic eligibility. One of three new Cougars from the successful Cahokia High School team, she will start at shortstop.

Patti Scott of Cahokia will start at third base. She is a freshman.

Cheryl Schoolfield of Granite City, who is a sophomore and played short last year, will find a new spot in center field.

Patty Sussen, one of the returnees will start at second base. Denise Schanke, who spent a large part of last season out with an ankle injury, will be on first. She can also be called on for some relief pitching.

Cindy Rakers of Trenton is a probable starter at right or left field. She is a freshman. Shirley Ryback, the third member of the team from Cahokia, will add depth as the back-up catcher. She could see some playing time, said Jones.

Becky Saylor of Wood River is a junior pitcher. The right-hander will "add a lot of strength to our team," predicted Jones.

Tracy Scanlan of Godfrey will back up Schanke at first base. She is a freshman. Pam Weller of Dwight is a freshman outfielder who will add depth to that defensive unit, according to Jones.

The Cougars will play a pair of games March 17 opening against Northeast A & M in Miami, Okla. They will travel on Tuesday, March 18 to Tahlequah, Okla., for a twinbill against Northeastern State. The next day, they will be in Edmond, Okla., for the third doubleheader against Central State. On the 20th they will stop for a pair of games with Missouri Southern in Joplin, Mo.

Volleyball player ... GC girl toured Texas

By O. A. WILSON for the Press-Record
GODFREY — From Granite City to Texas to Godfrey — that has been the road followed by Kim Collins to a starting position on the Lewis and Clark Community College women's basketball team.

Kim attended high school at Granite City North for three years, where she played basketball every year. She also played field hockey and softball, in which she alternated between pitching and playing shortstop. Her senior year was spent in Liberty, Texas, where she again played basketball. At Liberty she was also on the girls' track team, specializing in the mile run.

Since returning to Illinois to enter Lewis and Clark College, Kim's speed, shooting, and ball-handling ability have won her a regular starting berth on the Lewis and Clark basketball team. She is one of two freshmen to make the starting line up. She has played in all 24 of the Bucks' games this year, and has started most of them. The team has won 16 of its 24 games and finished in a second place tie in the Midwest Junior College Athletic Conference.

The basketball team is now playing in the sectional tournament and if successful will go on to higher level competition.

After basketball season is over, Kim intends to play softball at LOCC, but first she and several others of the Lady Bucks plan to spend the spring break on the beach at Galveston, Texas. Kim loves swimming, water skiing and just lounging on the beach.

During the summer vacation, Kim plans to play softball with the Apple Valley team. Besides sports, she likes to sing with a singing group.

After Lewis and Clark, Kim plans to continue her studies and athletics at a four-year college or university. She wants to become a basketball coach.

How do the two Granite City coaches like the relay system of running meets (that is, with no individual events, but everything including field events and hurdles)?

"Looking at our team this year, I love it," said Lang. "But if you had asked me that question two or three years ago when we had some outstanding individuals, I would have said I didn't like it."

"That's the difference between relays and traditional 'open' meets," Lang said. "A team with some outstanding individual athletes but little depth might not do as well as a team with few outstanding runners but a lot of depth. Look at Mt. Vernon. They've got Nick Whiteside, one of the best distance runners in the state. But when he's put in a distance relay team with three other guys, he's so far behind by the time he gets the baton, there's no way he can catch up."

Coaches are pleased

"Or look at Edwardsville. We beat them by only six points in a dual last week, but beat them bad here. They have quality. We have better depth."

Bunting said, "Relays are deceiving. It's really a numbers game and doesn't give a clear picture of your team. But considering the cold weather and the fact that we didn't have many sophomores to run, I'm as happy with it as I can be."

Bunting was pleased with the efforts of his first place finishers, of course (two-mile relay, diatene medley and shot put), but he was also happy with his pole vaulters, even though they placed fifth. "Steve Adams (at 12-6) was the individual champion," said Bunting. "He was it. But we didn't have enough from the other people to finish higher."

The next action for both North and South will be Thursday on the same track at Belleville East in the Mineral Area Open Meet, which will be hosted by Belleville West.

Harrington is looking forward to playing in the new gymnasium now under construction on BAC's main campus. He says, "I really believe that the new gym will be an asset to us. It is beautiful. People will want to come to watch our team at first just to see the gym. If we give them the kind of basketball I am working toward, they will come back to see the team."

Harrington expressed particular interest in Shelby Brooks and Greg Brees of Madison, Mike Ginzle, Rich Landwehrmeyer and Steve Ridghead of O'Fallon, Tom Starell of Cahokia, Troy Washburn and John Smith of Alton, James Douglas and Lamont Robinson of East St. Louis, Lee Heubner of Granite City South, Rance Glasper and Eric Watson of Lovejoy, Dale Jansen and Dan Amin of New Athens, Gary Moeller of Okawville and Mark Campbell of Collinsville. He indicated that several other players from the Belleville High Schools had, much to his disappointment, expressed a commitment to other colleges.

Harrington is also doing some recruiting in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Indiana, and in other parts of Illinois.

Harrington recalled the impetus that the return of Kevin Stallings gave the Dutchmen the year prior to his coming to BAC.

"Hopefully, there are some other good men who will recognize that the grass is not always greener away from home and come back to BAC," he said. Harrington did not specify which players he has hopes to get in this way.

South's Harmon has experienced squad

Tennis '80

GRANITE CITY — One of the area's promising tennis squad's for the 1980 season will be home town Granite City South, but a key injury to its only senior might put a damper into the Warriors plans for success.

"We might be hurting a little bit," stated head coach Dick Harmon. "Terry Malench, our only senior was in an accident and he will be out for a little while. I hope to have him back within the next couple of weeks. He really helps the team and is such a steady influence for us."

The Warriors will have to rely on the talent that they have on hand which has already recorded a 1-2 mark on the year. Dropping the opening match to O'Fallon, 7-0 and losing to Belleville West 7-2, Granite picked up a victory at the expense of Jacksonville 7-2, but competition in the Gateway East Conference has yet to test the experience of the Warrior racketeers.

"I think we have an experienced squad," said Harmon, "and as soon as everyone gets settled, we should be a strong competitor in the conference, which I see as one that will be pretty close. We will get better as the season goes on and hopefully the weather will too. Other than senior Malench, the Warriors comprise a team that holds seven juniors and a freshman. Playing number one and two singles for Harmon are juniors Tom Longus and George Sykes. Number three is held down by freshman John Menendez with four, five and six played by juniors Ed Schmalbach, Don Cook and Todd Angle respectively. The final two number three doubles, Paul Klieff and Pat Theis.

Lincoln

and a 19.7 average, good enough for second spot on the final list of tournament scoring leaders. In addition she also hit a sizzling 67.6 percent clip from the field, which was a tournament high. Moore and Crystal Coleman also played well leading the tournament with 18 assists a piece.

The game marked one of record breaking performances as Moore's set of 13 free throw contribution established a new state record for charity attempts in a championship game. Chicago Marshall also put its name in the books as "big" 6'2" Janet Harris set two state rebounding records with a 14 game and 45 tournament out-

"I think we played well," said Riggins. "They did exactly what we told them to. Our balance is the essence of a good team and the key ingredient of a state champion."

Each team made good on 32 field goals but the story was told at the charity stripe as Lincoln connected for 18 points, while Marshall only made one of nine. "We have not been very successful on the free throw line," stated Marshall's head coach Dorothy Gaters. "Had we hit our free throws we would have been much closer."

Gaters, although disappointed, was still pleased with her girls as she commented, "We didn't get the scoring punch we had hoped to, but we finally got by game one, which has been a problem in recent years. With the young talent we have, we hope to win the title eventually."

Lincoln has finally accomplished its goal and did it in grand style but the question now arises, how really good is Lincoln? Riggins put it simply, "We don't play good enough opposition, so I really don't know, but there is no doubt that this year's championship team could beat last year's."

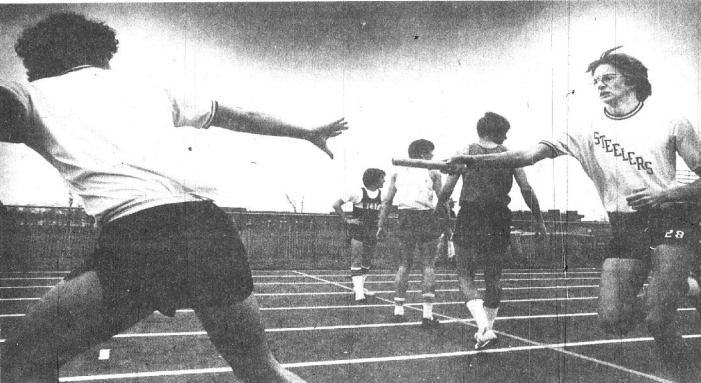

He added that it will probably be a long time before Lincoln has a team like they had this year. "We'll be competitive next season," said Riggins, "not as tall, but just as quick and we could do it again next year."

The Chicago Dolton Thornridge Falcons, the Decatur Runnin' Reds, the Mount Vernon Rams and now the East St. Louis Lincoln Tigettes. How does Lincoln have anything to do with the names in this prestigious list? The first three teams dominated Illinois high school boys basketball with the Falcons of Thornridge depicted as the greatest high school ever. But the Tigettes of Lincoln have marked the dawn of a new era... the emergence of girls high school basketball in Illinois.

In the third place game, Pam Gant scored 38 points to lead her Kingsmen of Joliet East (30-2) to a 68-59 victory over Buffalo Grove (24-7). Gant's set a single game scoring record along with establishing a new mark for most points in a tournament at 75.

The Class A championship saw the Benton Rangerettes (25-6) defeat Jamboree (23-2), 52-42, while Lemont (23-6) took the third place game, 62-37 over Carlinville (30-2).
